2015 Annual Wrap Up - Space: Here We Go! - Jan 7th

To

"The reverberation often exceeds through silence the sound that sets it off; the reaction occasionally outdoes by way of repose the event that stimulated it; and the past not uncommonly takes a while to happen, and some long time to figure out."

~ Ken Kesey

When I was on Wall Street, the partners of our firm would meet for a strategy session in our boardroom during the first week of the year. The chairman of the firm would open the meeting with a presentation that started with... "Let me tell you what is going to happen this year."

In our annual wrap up, I want to share my insights about the trends, stories and financial market performance in 2015, and about what's ahead in 2016. Our theme is The Space-Based Economy.

This year, look for significant global growth in public and private investment in space.

- First, the orbital platform around Earth is growing as we depend on satellites to deliver a larger percentage of the world's economic activity.
- Second, efforts are underway on three continents to return to the moon and to build bases there.
- Third, we continue to explore the solar system and, as the Voyager space probes permit, to explore interstellar space.
- Finally, we are working towards human colonies on Mars in the 21st century.

To support this effort, we are developing reusable rockets, 3D printing fabrication tools and new, light-weight materials to radically improve the economics of going into space as well as sourcing materials and manufacturing and building there.

In this year's wrap up, we launch a conversation that will be ongoing about our investment in space, what is really going on beyond the "official story," and what it means to our economy and to you and me.

Here is the outline for our 2015 annual wrap up:

- Introduction: Space: Here We Go!
- Money Maps of the World
- The Space-Based Economy
- 2015 News Stories & Trends
- 2015 Financial Markets Roundup
- 2016: Get Ready, Get Ready, Get Ready!
- Vision 2020
- Best Books for 2016
- And the Winners Are...
 - Hero, Movie, and Documentary of the Year
 - Let's Go to the Movies: Complete List – 2008-2015
- Closing & Credits

I hope you'll join me on Thursday for this fascinating discussion. As a subscriber, you will receive access to:

- This coming week: An audio and extensive web presentation.
- The following week: A PDF with detailed charts and images.
- Last, but not least: An online flipbook.

Highlights from Last Week - Reviewing Major Themes of 2015: The Wrap Ups

"Don't cry because it's over, smile because it happened."

~ Dr. Seuss

The Solari Report Annual Wrap Up will publish on January 7th, 2016. In anticipation, we invite subscribers to review our Annual and Quarterly Wrap Ups of 2015 over the holidays. You will cover our "big themes" — Planet Equity, Planet Debt, Infrastructure and the Chinese Stock Market. This is superb background for our upcoming Annual Wrap Up.

Note: There will be no Money & Markets segment this week, but mark your calendars for our upcoming 2015 Annual Wrap Up: The Space-Based Economy on January 7, 2016.

Thank you so much for a great year. I wish you and yours a Happy New Year!.
