Solari Report Update

Introduction to Rudolf Steiner with T.H. Meyer - December 01st

To

"Our highest endeavor must be to develop free human beings who are able of themselves to impart purpose and direction to their lives. The need for imagination, a sense of truth, and a feeling of responsibility—these three forces are the very nerve of education." ~Rudolf Steiner

Earlier this month, T.H.Meyer, founder of Perseus Publishing, joined me in Zurich to record a conversation about Rudolf Steiner. We will publish this introduction to Steiner and his work this coming week on the Solari Report.

Rudolf Steiner was an Austrian philosopher who founded the spiritual movement anthroposophy as well as establishing Waldorf education, biodynamic agriculture, and anthroposophical medicine.

T.H. Meyer is the author of Rudolf Steiner's Core Mission: The Birth and Development of Spiritual-Scientific Karma Research and Milestones: In the life of Rudolf Steiner and the Development of Anthroposophy, among many other books. Meyer also publishes the monthly magazine The Present Age for the advancement of Spiritual Science. His rich understanding of Steiner and his work and how they relate to building a human society and culture reflects Meyer's lifetime of study and experience.

Meyer was introduced to me by Ann Watson, who for many years has read Steiner lectures to me while I traveled the North American interstates. You would be amazed if you knew how many thousands of miles I have traveled back and forth across the Northern Great Plains or Southwestern deserts, listening to and digesting Steiner's philosophy. Thanks to Ann's love for Steiner, I have been able to work my way through a significant amount of Steiner's prodigious output.

Ann has recorded Steiner's great classic The Agriculture Course for the Solari Report, which we will also publish this coming week. The Agriculture Course was the series of lectures and discussions with which Steiner launched biodynamic farming in 1924.

In Money & Markets this week I will discuss the latest in financial and geopolitical news.

In Let's Go to the Movies, I will review Australian filmmaker Jennifer Peedom's 2015 documentary Sherpa. This film tells the story of the Sherpa people of the Himalayas in eastern Nepal and their spiritual and economic relationship with Mount Everest. The film was made in 2014 when an ice avalanche killed 16 Sherpas who were supporting Mount Everest expeditions. It tells the story of the risks taken by the Sherpas over many decades, of the avalanche and the subsequent events that lead to the cancellation of the 2014 and 2015 climbing seasons.

Talk to you Thursday!

Catherine Austin Fitts

From The Site

December 8th
Year End Tax Planning 2016 with Patty Kemmerer

December 15th
The Food Series - A Culinary History of Christmas

Subscription only: Who is Interested in a Lunch in Louisville?

Book Review - Your Brain on Porn: Internet Pornography and the Emerging Science of Addiction

Subscribers: Money & Marketes - November 25, 2016

The US Presidential Election: The Productivity Backlash

What Ever Happened to Thanksgiving?

Subscribers: Money & Markets - November 18, 2016

Just a Taste! - Introduction to Rudolf Steiner with T.H. Meyer

Just A Taste: Introduction to Rudolf Steiner with T.H. Meyer

USA Watchdog: 2017 Destruction of the Old & Creation of the New

Catherine Austin Fitts-2017 Destruction of the Old & Creation of the New

Highlights from Last Week - The Food Series - Francois Vecchio - Charcutier, Salumiere, Wurstmeister

This week on the Solari Report we publish our next addition to the Food Series with Harry Blazer – a four part interview with Francois Vecchio

Francois has more than 60 years of experience in the meat industry – specializing in French, German, Italian and Spanish traditional meat craftsmanship.

From 1962-1980, François owned and operated his family's company in Switzerland. In 1981, he moved to California and introduced European-style salumi to the west coast, first, working with Busseto Foods, then with Columbus Salame Company and Niman Ranch. Francois currently mentors award-winning artisans and chefs in the United States and Canada and gives curing workshops in the United States.

This conversation is significant – rich with insights about our food system and its impact on life and culture in the United States and Europe. Vecchio is truly a master of his craft. I listened to all four parts on a long drive across the Southwest – and I was absolutely enthralled. I am particularly grateful to Harry for capturing Vecchio's wisdom for the Solari Report Food Series.

See it here or Subscribe

About The Solari Report

A weekly 1-hour briefing with Catherine Austin Fitts and specialized experts, The Solari Report helps to navigate you through the shifting political and financial climates while building your wealth.

Learn more and subscribe here.