To “What is relevant is what solves the problem. If we had thought through real relevancies, we would be on Sirius by now.” ~ Sir Peter Medawar

In the last two weeks of each December, we revisit the very best Solari Reports of the year.
This is an opportunity for new subscribers to discover some of the finest Solari Reports published this year. For existing subscribers, it helps you to make sure you don’t miss the materials that we build on for our 2017 Annual Wrap Up which we will publish in January 2018.

This week on The Solari Report, we look back at our Annual and Quarterly Wrap Ups for 2017.

- January: [2016 Annual Wrap Up: The Global Harvest & What It Means to Investors](Money Without Telling Us?)
- April: [1st Quarter 2017 Wrap Up: The Clash of Civilization: Can a new administration preserve a prosperous economy without more debt, crime and war?](Destiny and the Process of Dying)
- July: [2nd Quarter 2017 Wrap Up: Enforce the Constitution or You Might as Well Kiss Your Money Goodbye!](Subscribers: Money & Markets - November 24, 2017)
- October: [3rd Quarter 2017 Wrap Up: Control 101: What it is. How it’s used. How you can guard against it.](Book Review: The Crypto-Terrestials by Mac Tonnies)

In Money & Markets this week I will discuss the latest financial and geopolitical news. On the top of my list are the latest on US tax reform and the astonishing breakthrough developments in the Bundy prosecution and what it may mean to the Uranium One scandal and the 2018 elections.

Food for the Soul: Movies to Make You Feel Good

By Your Culture Scout

Reading news in the morning and then political or financial commentaries in the afternoon can effectively keep you depressed all day long. So, to cheer everyone up for the holidays, we are offering a list of movies to check out whenever you really feel down, and need a couple of hours of distraction.

The first requirement was some sort of a happy ending — The aliens get chased away, the village is saved, the diamonds are found, the president gets impeached. You get the drift. These are the films to make you feel good, no matter the story. Pure escapism.

The second requirement was artistic quality – A perfect script, smart jokes, and superb acting, stunts and choreography. We chose mostly older movies, since they are more likely to have been forgotten by now. Many titles on this list are the best films of their decade: sometimes foreign, often award-winners, and mostly directed by filmmakers who are considered masters. Low-brow comedies and violent gore were excluded, no matter how successful they were.
This is the Food for the Soul section, and we are going for upscale entertainment here, folks. This list is different from what a typical fan-list would be, but we are reaching for a bit of intellectual snobbery here, while still having all the fun.

Enjoy!

2017 Solari Holiday Greetings!

We hold these truths to be self-evident: that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. ~ US Declaration of Independence

Dear Friends, Clients & Subscribers:

As the holidays approach, we are deeply grateful for your support throughout 2017. What a productive, inspiring year this has been. We are glad the holidays have arrived – merriment, celebration and feasting are in order!

Every Christmas the Solari Report publishes and links to “In Hoc Anno Domini.” Written by Vermont Royster in 1947 for the Wall Street Journal, this essay has been republished in the WSJ every year since. It inspires us to celebrate the divine authority that blesses the rights and freedom of each one of us:
“Paul of Tarsus, too, was sore afraid. He feared that other Caesars, other prophets, might one day persuade men that man was nothing save a servant unto them, that men might yield up their birthright from God for pottage and walk no more in freedom.

Then might it come to pass that darkness would settle again over the lands and there would be a burning of books and men would think only of what they should eat and what they should wear, and would give heed only to new Caesars and to false prophets. Then might it come to pass that men would not look upward to see even a winter’s star in the East, and once more, there would be no light at all in the darkness.

And so Paul, the apostle of the Son of Man, spoke to his brethren, the Galatians, the words he would have us remember afterward in each of the years of his Lord:

“Stand fast therefore in the liberty wherewith Christ has made us free and be not entangled again with the yoke of bondage”

~ Vermont Royster, From “In Hoc Anno Domini”

For our 2017 Christmas donations we are pleased to honor several special individuals for their fearless defense of our freedoms.

Highlights from Last Week - Solari Food Series - Nourishing Traditions with Sally Fallon Morrell & Harry Blazer

This is one of my favorite interviews of 2017!

Harry Blazer had the opportunity to interview Sally Fallon Morrell, Co-founder and President of the Weston A Price Foundation, at the annual conference in Minneapolis in November.

By preserving and building on the pioneering legacy of Dr. Weston Price, Sally and the Foundation have made a priceless contribution to our understanding of nutrition and health. In this interview, Sally and Harry describe the many Foundation accomplishments as well as resources available on the Foundation website. You can start with the brochure here to learn more.
I regularly recommend that subscribers seek out the local Weston A. Price Foundation chapters to find wonderful co-conspirators in your neighborhood. Eating truly fresh, nutritious food is a Revolutionary act. Creating a local constituency to support farmers and ranchers and the restaurants, markets and grocers who buy from them is a very Revolutionary act.

I have been a Weston A. Price Foundation member for many years. Both the Foundation and the Farm-to-Consumer Legal Defense Fund that Sally also helped start have been honored as Solari Holiday Greetings donations. Sally joined me on the Solari Report in 2011.

Harry and Sally also discuss Sally’s new book Nourishing Fats: Why We Need Animal Fats for Health and Happiness, the fifth book in her Nourishing Traditions series of books and cookbooks
