The Cosmology of Jon Rappoport with Harry Blazer - June 14th

To Solari Readers

“Once you embark on a road of imagination and creating, all bets are off. All preconceptions about what you must do, make, think, assume, and believe are yesterday’s news.” ~Jon Rappoport

Jon Rappoport of NoMoreFakeNews.com has had a profound impact on my understanding of the world — on my understanding of health, consciousness and steps to enlist my imagination in living a free and inspired life. When I find my coherence fraying, I often turn to Jon and his work. Jon is an intellectual _foo dog_, protecting the truth from attacks on subjects that range widely from centralized control to pharmaceuticals.

One source of joy is the collaboration that began when I introduced Harry Blazer to Jon’s work. Harry has become one of Jon’s most devoted readers and listeners. Last month, Harry called me to say that Jon’s philosophy is scattered throughout scores of Solari Report interviews. Could he interview Jon to gather this wisdom together in one Solari Report? Of course, I said, Yes. Here it is!

Update on the $21 Trillion in Unsupported Adjustments at the Department of Housing and Urban Development and the Department of Defense

By Mark Skidmore

It has now been about nine months since Catherine Austin Fitts and I released a report demonstrating how official government records indicate that the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) and the Department of Defense (DoD) had $21 trillion in undocumentable adjustments over the 1998-2015 period. Over the past several months, I have repeatedly tried to contact the Office of the Inspector General (OIG) in an effort to obtain additional information regarding the nature of the unsupported adjustments. However, no information has been provided and the OIG is no longer responding to inquiries.

In late May 2018, a graduate student at Michigan State University found on the OIG website the most recent report for the DoD, which summarizes unsupported adjustments for fiscal year 2017. However, this document differs from all previous reports in that all the numbers relating to the unsupported adjustments were redacted. That is, all the relevant information was blacked out. The report can be accessed here.

Book Review: Bad Blood by John Carreyrou
“I want to be a billionaire.” ~ Elizabeth Holmes, Age 9-10, in response to a question about what she wanted to be.

By Catherine Austin Fitts

WSJ subscribers have been following the story of Theranos and its founder Elizabeth Holmes since WSJ investigative reporter John Carreyrou first broke the story in 2015. Now that Holmes has reached an agreement with the Securities and Exchange Commission, Carreyrou has published Bad Blood: Secrets and Lies in a Silicon Valley Startup, which gathers the whole tale into one spell-binding book. A criminal investigation is still ongoing.

Elizabeth Holmes dropped out of Stanford to start a blood-testing company in Silicon Valley. The idea was that one prick could produce reliable testing without needles. Ultimately, testing could occur at home and in “retail establishments,” such as the two early Theranos partners, Walgreens pharmacies and Safeway grocery-pharmacies.

Highlights from Last Week - The Cost of Secrecy with Richad Dolan

This week we continue to focus our attention on secrecy, following our discussion with Amy Benjamin on her landmark analysis, The Many Faces of Secrecy.

This Thursday the Solari Report will publish the excellent video and powerpoint of Richard Dolan’s presentation The Cost of Secrecy prepared for and filmed at the Solari gathering in Uluru in the Australian Outback in May.

I had asked Richard to review our 3rd Quarter Wrap Up Control 101 and prepare a presentation on the secrecy of the national security state and how it is used to manufacture false realities. Richard delivered an outstanding overview. When you understand the heavy price that secrecy exacts, you see the opportunity and possibilities of transparency.
