Question:

Hello,
I just finished combing through the amazing wealth of material on the Going Direct Reset. I know the Federal Reserve acts as the broker for the ESF, which, according to Wallstreetonparade, is engaged in purchasing stocks and bonds. So I wanted to know, Who is the custodian for the ESF's assets when purchased outside the SPVs of the various credit facilities. Is it the Fed?
Many Thanks,

Question:

Dear Catherine,
I have question – I have a small company and I am trying to protect it from possible problems in the future, there is one problem that I do not know how to go around: in case of possible extreme scenario that many countries (we are in Croatia, so in EU) experience periods without electricity and therefore banks will not be able to work, what happens to the company’s money in the bank, even thought the bank might be secure (we are at Sberbank for example)? We cannot take the company money out of the bank, also by law, we need to do payments thru banks. But, in case of this extreme scenario, one cannot be sure that after, for example electricity comes back, all will be there. And also one cannot know will the banks change something and act as if they are owning your companies’ money etc. Maybe buying some gold for company is not bad idea, which we already did, but we need to have liquidity in our account for everyday transactions, so I am not sure how can I protect that money in case of any such situation?
If you have any suggestions, I would really appreciate it.
Thank you and kind regards,

Question:

Dear Catherine,

You mentioned recent discussion of bank bail-ins. I somehow missed it. Please give me a link or let me know where I can find it. I have a vague recollection it was in last weeks AC. But, I'm not sure.
Thank you.

Comment:

Dear Catherine, dear All,
The bail-ins may come later this year. Have a look at the upcoming Cyber Polygon planning exercise in July this year.
They are planning for a financial reset/attack on the global financial system. Interesting though, the WEF, Russian Sberbank, cyber security firm BI.ZONE and other global banks are involved. I wanted to get the Sputnik V shots but now I can’t even trust the Russians no more:-)

Comment:

Catherine…so great to see you on the Reunion Summit today…you brought wisdom and great suggestions for actionable steps. So happy to see you showing up in new spaces
Still need help with unplugging all our retirement investments…which I know is complicated and unique. I seems James Corbett is getting similar requests and has started a series. I have been digging through the vast wealth of information here and in particular the suggestions you made the last time I brought this up but dang there is much good content I keep losing my focus. I’m sure it is unfolding just as it needs to just need to remind myself to trust God’s purposes.
Keep on shining your light in the world

Dear Catherine,
I want to invest in the Safire Project but I am not an accredited investor. This could likely be the most significant energy development in a 100 years.

I have funds to invest in them but not through the SAFE investment vehicle.
I have followed the EU scientists for 15 years. In their view, if science cannot be tested verified or duplicated it is just a theory.

I have a copy of the SAFE Investment instructions I can forward to you. Call for investors ends March 31.

PS as a long time follower and new subscriber I’m impressed with the material. We met years ago at a GATA meeting in New Orleans with James Turk.

Keep up the great work.
Question:

Hi Catherine,

Thank you so much for the ongoing financial insight you provide to so many of us.

I have a question regarding 401(k)s. I need to get more diversified in my asset portfolio and want to get out of the grip of government control as much as possible, especially with my 401(k). I currently have all of my retirement plans in my 401(k) which makes me very nervous. I have 2 options: 1) take a loan which I need to pay back (which I was thinking to use to buy a piece of land that I could build on later) or 2) take a withdrawal of a higher amount and purchase a property which will be my primary residence. I am not ready to move from where I am (currently renting) so Option 2 does not sound appealing to me but not sure if there are ways around that. If I go with Option 1 it makes me nervous to be indebted to my 401(k) but not sure if that will matter much in the longer term. Any insight you can provide here is deeply appreciated.

Thanks,

Question:

Hi Catherine,

I have our retirement savings (simple ira) in Vanguard and Fidelity. I’ve moved out of bonds and mostly cash and stocks. Have a little in Gold / Silver ETFs and physical gold/silver. Is there a safer place to move it before the SHTF? Is there a more trustworthy brokerage or bank?

I’ve been on auto pilot with Vanguard and just realized that Vanguard is pretty limited for retirement accounts. You can only select between limited funds in the Vanguard family.

Worked too hard and don’t want to lose it.

Thanks for any advice!

Question:

Catherine

Hello! Thank you for Solari, I'm absolutely loving it! And have referred many people to you!
I am an RN in CA and an independent contractor and do 1099’s. I also have a holistic healing practice, which the covid bullshit has almost completely shut down, but that I can't to pay almost $600/month for. I am considering not paying taxes due to the obvious fact that our gov't is trying to kill us. I'm not 100% comfortable with this at this point due to the bullies.

Can you offer me some advice on this?

I've always had someone do my taxes also and if you recommend that I do do them could you recommend an "awake" tax professional to assist me?

Question:

Hi again,

Really appreciated the session wiht Sayer and Josh!

My hope is that millennials will identify with them more easily, and those two have a depth and outlook which is refreshing.
(We have been GreenMedInfo subscribers for many years, not as long as Solari, though).

And the crypto discussion really did need to happen. Yet, I appreciate Josh’s keeping the discussion on track, as that is easily bogged down into technical weeds about which nobody really knows anything… and the humor you brought in was exactly what was needed in those moments.

I decided not to get into cryptos due to a news report a few years ago in which German computer scientists attempted to analyze the blockchain behind BC, and found image file formats, which they decoded as much as they could and they looked eerily pornographic. The story disappeared quickly, too.

So I saw a scenario play out in my mind as I took that through my "thought experiment" process, something like this:

1) People buy BC in a tulip fervor, and the price shoots up…
2) When Mr G is ready to pull the plug, a patsy is arrested for child pornography on their computer, or in their bitcoin wallet. This is publicized, with the shreik-o-meter.
3) People fear for their freedom and see that they, too can be targets; BC markets crash, and the short sellers profit.

Although that was enough to keep my nose clean, the next step might be…gold soars? Thanks for that insight!

So I guess even rubber duckies can be weaponized. Much less things about which the average person can't really know anything about. Look how many brilliant Silicon Valley types are bought into the process! Well, greed has always been the #1 mind control strategy…
Cheers,

Question:

Hi Catherine,

Thanks for continuing this segment of the Solari Report. I'm sure there are a lot of overlapping and repeat questions, but hopefully the repetition will help others.

I understand and agree that supporting an army to protect rights, liberties, and assets are incredibly important, and I have donated to several organizations that you have recommended.

A good friend of mine in Canada has about CA$100k in cash in the bank. He and his wife are thinking of buying a $250k cottage in the countryside, though they both live (in an apartment) and work in an urban area. She is a nurse and he works from home for a non-profit organization; they are both in their early 30s with a 10-year old son.

I remember that you have regularly recommended to get/stay out of debt in these times. As an alternative to real estate, I believe you have said that physical investments such as gold and silver are also good options.

Given these general circumstances would you recommend physical gold and silver (or something else) over real estate, with the main concern being going in debt? Perhaps a less expensive cottage in the countryside? At the very least, they don't want to lose (the value of) their money, especially with inflation.

Are there other Solari links for investing in these times besides this 2016 Blast from the Past on "Where to Stash Cash in 2016"?
and
The seven-part series with Franklin Sanders on "How to Buy and Store Gold and Silver":

Thanks again so much!

Question:
Catherine,

Remember when you told me to pay attention to what UBS sends out? Many times I just skim the title and delete. This one caught my eye
This seems terrible- getting more and more mainstream traction.
Chief economist's comment: Have we finished with cash?

Question:

Dear Catherine:
My wife and I, age 46, have been following closely your work over the past year and learnt so much from you, about everything. The depth and breadth of actionable intelligence you offer through Solari has no parallel out there. Hats off to you!
We are Bulgarians, who have lived in the US for many years, but left in 2012 for Finland and Denmark, and, in a few months, our native Bulgaria. My wife is a US citizen, with a 401k, and a current stock portfolio.
In these uncertain times and with a view to putting our money where our mouth is – that is, building local communities of like-minded people, local systems of exchange, farming, finance, etc., we are leaning towards a full withdrawal (taxes, fees and all) of the 401k and selling all our stock before the market crashes, which seems imminent. Given that we have no intention whatsoever of returning to the US, it makes sense to have the money where we are and use it for good locally. What do you think?
Alternatively, should we just re-shuffle our holdings, away from certain stocks and all bonds (in the 401k, via a self-directed IRA, if possible) to gold, silver, gold mining stock, etc. (Bitcoin is a decisive NO)?
We know you are loath to giving definitive advice without in-depth personal information, but would still highly appreciate hearing your thoughts based on this quick overview.
Thank you in advance and may the Lord protect you more than ever!
warm regards,

Question:

Dear Catherine,

I have a two part question, I was unable to attend the annual meeting at my credit union to ask them the question you taught me to ask because I was busy attending my City Council meeting stopping them from trying to convince my governor to reinstate the mask mandate. So I thought I would reach out to my credit union to ask them the questions, but I noticed the supervisory committee is composed of a patent attorney, a couple of directors of Texas Health and Human Services and a Chief Medical Officer of the City of Houston which is not my city and not the city that my credit union serves. Should I be worried? Is it okay to reach out to this supervisory committee or should I reach out to the board of directors or neither?
Best regards,

I got an EIP debit card from the federal government because I have a low income. It’s part of COVID relief. It has $600 on it. I can’t use it, as it doesn’t work. I either lost the PIN number or never got one. When I call the phone number on the back of the card I can’t get past the computer because I have no PIN number. When I went to the website of the bank that issued the card (Meta Bank) I found a web page with help advice - it said for a new PIN number call the phone number. But that does not work because I have no PIN number and can’t reach a human.

Meta Bank has no address on its website. It has no phone number. It’s like they don’t want to take phone calls.
There is another mysterious entity on the back of this debit card called “The Money Network.” That entity also does not take phone calls.

I got in touch with my congressman’s office. They can’t help. So I’m stuck with a $600 debit card from the federal government that I can’t use.

Question:

Catherine,

Sorry for not getting right back but the Wave hit pretty hard here.
Here is the news;

(remember; small peaceful island west coast population 1000)

The community website announces 'Whole Island immunization'
The vaccine arrives! The magic pill is here...

I volunteer for this community a fair amount, my radio show etc so I get roped into doing into estimates on the cost of fire prevention upgrades on our community buildings. There are funds available through the Gov.

I meet the two senior gals at the school house art gallery. They are excited how everyone will be vaccinated. I make the mistake of my views being known and one in particular is livid with me.

They start the fear tactics on me; you wont be able to go anywhere or join anything etc etc
All I can think is 'great not with guys anyway'... This particular person calms down after ranting about 'conspiracy' etc. And then we walk around the old school house.

After that whole experience the Wave hits me hard.

This is how they will do it;
Get all of us hating each other.

Even though no one has been sick here period. Like physically ill. The Reserve, an indigenous band called The Klahoose all tested positive and they were jabbed first. Of course.

No deaths and so now its us. They will get everyone jabbed then folks will get sick, then the 'unjabbed' will be blamed and its off to camps, the Gov takes my land a la Japanese Canadians WW2. I have yet to hear the 'We are in a War' narrative but it is coming.

QUESTIONS, COMMENTS:

1. seriously considering selling my land to realize monies i have put into here.
2. feel like moving to Russia where at least God is in the Gov.
3. I may get the contract that I did estimates on, should I work with the Gov?
4. The only way to crush a carpenter would be supply shortage or hyperinflation...which is starting in construction materials. 50 lb box of nails over 100.00 used to be around 45/50. All dimensional lumber more that 1.00 a foot.
5. Looking at starting a website to do Jungian dream study on line, myth fairy tales etc. (After 4 years I have hung up the radio show, feel like its time to go underground. I will cover these in a letter/proposal that I am writing you.)
6. Part of me wants to tough it out here. I want to make it work. But I could be delusional. Do I need to start a roaming life? ie purchase a boat. But I would not have my library, my garden etc....

7. If I do consider leaving what are the signs that I should look out for to make my decision to depart? I know this is an odd question. I am sure my gut or dreams will tell me. But I want to hear your take.

Finally please give my email to whom ever for setting up meetings in my area. I know there is a person in Victoria. I do not mind spending the 3 hours driving to see her/them. I had already entered my name earlier and no one got back to me. This was several months back.

Cheers
Thanks for everything

Comment:

Dear Ms. Fitts,
Having consulted your site, https://home.solari.com/, and listened to various podcasts, I have appreciated your insights into the turmoil going on in society. You mentioned how the hidden powers-that-be ultimately want to create a state of dependency for the masses. Controlling the electrical grid is a significant piece of the puzzle. I would like to bring a solution to your attention and ask that you consider helping bring this solution to fruition.

The solution involves the R&D of a heat engine by http://soonysystems.com/. The inventor, Barry Johnston, envisions one application of this technology being a generator, which would enable home owners to produce their own energy more cheaply than buying it from the grid as it operates at an efficiency of close to 50%. This technology already has received a validation of proof of concept from the Univ. of Maryland. The need now is for financing to build a prototype.

Another application for this technology will be in outer space taking advantage of the sun's radiance and the extreme temperature differentials to produce energy for spaceships.

Barry Johnston is also an accomplished artist. You can view his artwork here: http://sculptorjohnston.com/

Please let us know if you would be willing to help.

Dear, Ms. Catherine

This isXXX, one of your customers and I am originally from XXXX living in Los Angeles, CA. I support you and am very proud of your wonderful influential work. I am writing this email to ask for your support to see I am on the right track since I am new to the financial world by inviting you to one of my training zoom meetings.
I am super excited to join the financial service company recently.
As part of my training, I am required to have 10 zoom appointments to complete. I need your support by joining one of them please because I value your opinion and knowledge. Once you know what we do and who we are as a company, you may want to send me referrals. My trainer presents the company in detail and answers your questions after I will set up a 30 to 40 minute zoom appointment with your best timing. Question:

As someone who has worked in healthcare it appears to me EHR was started to data mine and at this point seems terribly dangerous.
I often tell people not to reveal anything to us providers like “do you feel sad” questions when you have an appointment for knee pain. What part do you think EHR is playing in covid data mining and what is the probability that it will be used to collect people into covid camps at any point?

Question:

Pfizer CEO no-go to Israel

Catherine, in the March 18 Money & Markets Report you said you thought Israel had made a mistake by not letting him in without being (fully) vaccinated, possibly because it had failed to clue in the bureaucrats.

But could it not be a matter of competition protection? Well, obviously not of AstraZeneca, but of Moderna / J&J … waiting in the wings? Paying bigger kickbacks?

Comment:

A friend of mine called her life insurance agent yesterday. During the course of conversation, the agent told her that he now has to inform clients who are purchasing new policies that just as there is a 2 year suicide clause, there is now a 2 year Covid clause. Anyone else heard of this? I guess the actuaries have been busy running the numbers.

Merriam Webster Dictionary recently changed the definition of vaccine!

Definition of vaccine

: a preparation that is administered (as by injection) to stimulate the body’s immune response against a specific infectious disease:
  a : an antigenic preparation of a typically inactivated or attenuated (see attenuated sense 2) pathogenic agent (such as a bacterium or virus) or one of its components or products (such as a protein or toxin)
  b : a preparation of genetic material (such as a strand of synthesized messenger RNA) that is used by the cells of the body to produce an antigenic substance (such as a fragment of virus spike protein)

Hi Catherine,

It came to my attention that there has been an increase in Ad campaigns asking for blood plasma donations from people who have had and recovered from Covid-19. The most 'interesting' or 'disturbing' is the following Ad: https://business.instagram.com/success/the-fight-is-in-us "The Fight is in Us" campaign sponsorship is what is concerning to say the least. On the ad/campaign website under "The Solution" section it states in part: "It is supported by advisory and technology organizations including the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation, the Lasker Foundation, Microsoft, the MITRE Corporation, Uber Health and Ashfield Healthcare." I am not sure if I had seen any of these topics discussed on Solari yet and would like to know if you have any ideas about what the push behind this could be.

Thank You for your Time, Consideration and ALL you and the Solari Team do!

Hello Catherine, Solari Team,

The attached article offered me some relief from my worries about mandated vaccines. The article references the FDA's Emergency Use Authorities, a copy of which is also attached.

You may already have this information. I’m convinced the Solari Crew never sleeps given the depth and breadth of the resources you provide (thank you ever so much), but there was a “whisper in my mind” to send it to you.

Here is the link to the article which will give you better access to the source: Employers can't require Covid-19 vaccination under an EUA - STAT (statnews.com)

Question:
Thank you Catherine for creating the financial disclosure form for families who have some members considering the c19 injection.

Question:

Shouldn't there be a spot on there to include the batch number of the specific injection for possible accountability later?

And could there be a line to consent or refuse consent?.....after people review the respective links.

Perhaps a form that allows people to make adjustments?

Thank you very much for considering this,

Hi Catherine and Sherri,
I enjoyed watching your recent discussion on The PREP Act and Injection Fraud. Great to listen to a couple of real experts. Excellent. However, there is a topic discussed that I hope enlarge upon, that being the PCR test swabs and their administration.
In the documentary "Once were the Living," the Morgellons, nano-particles and chips used in the swabs are shown and discussed. The video is nearly 2 hours long. The portion pertinent to the PCR swabs runs from 7:00 to 20:30 minutes. Important info to answer some of the questions you were raising.
Keep up the good fight

Dear Catherine,

I have been working with James Lyons-Weiler on topics related to science with integrity. Vaccine policy and science are short on the integrity balance of the column. Jack recently emailed his colleagues that a new paper would be published with Dr. Paul Thomas (Oregon pediatrician) about the financial incentives of pushing vaccines in the International Journal of Vaccine Theory, Practice, and Research.

The embargo will be lifted on March 25, 2021 (in your part of the world, it is ready to go.)
The attached peer-reviewed study by Dr. Thomas and Dr. Lyons-Weiler is embargoed until Thursday, March 25, 2021

The official link to the study will be provided upon request or can be found after tomorrow by searching https://ijvtpr.com/index.php/IJVTPR

Be advised final edits may occur by the journal editorial staff during final production.

Title: Vaccine Practice Payment Schedules Create Perverse Incentives for Unnecessary Medical Procedure - at What Cost to Patients?
Authors: James Lyons-Weiler, Ph.D. and Paul Thomas, M.D.

Abstract
No published assessment of revenue variation associated with variance in pediatric vaccine uptake exists. Using data from patients in a pediatric practice that provides full-service with informed consent, we provide a detailed analysis of the financial realities of respecting informed consent and allowing parents to exercise their legal right to refuse some or all pediatric vaccines. The data from a 30-day period of billing were tracked and analyzed via superbills, noting vaccines that were ordered and those that were refused. Considering that other practice income covered all operating expenses; these numbers reflect actual profits (from vaccines given) and losses (from vaccines refused). Patients in the practice exhibited increased refusal of some or all vaccines over a period of approximately ten years. These real-world data show losses would exceed one million US dollars for a practice that bills out just over 3 million (gross revenue). With pediatric administrative overhead running 60–80%, it becomes clear that the financial incentives to vaccinate are now a matter of survival for pediatric practices.

Question:

Hello Catherine.

Thank you for all you do. All of your interviews are stimulating and greatly appreciated. I really liked your interview with Junious. At one point he was talking about our spirit and mentioned how the spirit is in every cell or our body. I totally agree. All things were created spiritually before they were naturally on the earth. I was hoping that there might be a little more discussion on that subject. Just as he said it, I couldn’t help but think of the shots they are pushing on us. If they are trying to inject us with some man made material, I’m thinking that man made material has no divinity that is compatible with our spiritual makeup. To me another great reason to refuse the needle.

My Question. In the interview you referred to a lunch (I think) with a former senator friend, and a junior senator. You have talked about this meeting before. I have always wanted to ask. How much do these people know about the real world? 911, JFK, missing money, etc? If they know, do they talk about it off the record?

Dear Catherine

Rather than ask you a question I would just like to make a quick comment.

I listened to your recent interview with Jeff Rense, and I wanted to extend my compliments to you for the elegant way in which you refused to let yourself be drawn by Rense into a discussion on the 'war against Whites' and stoke the flames of divisiveness. Well done!

Question:

Hi Catherine,

First, let me say how very much I appreciate the work you and your team do. The information you generously give has really changed my life. Thank you.

I have been seeing a lot of information lately about RFK Jr and his support of vaccines. I saw some interviews where he discusses vaccine plans for all Americans, says he has fully vaccinated his children and his family is involved with funding of pharmaceutical companies. I am also learning some concerning information about Dr. Shiva whom you also speak highly of.

Now for my question. In a time where there is so much false or manipulated information and psyops everywhere, I'd like to ask you how you navigate all of this. How do you discern between unknowingly trusting controlled opposition versus the truth of people's characters? I was so deeply disappointed to see the information on RFK Jr and it stopped me dead in my tracks. Now I am questioning everything.

Thanks for giving a little insight on how you navigate these challenging times.

Question:

Catherine:

Re: Pulling in the guns - I believe you are absolutely bang on.

I have a friend, Paul Palango, (ex-investigative reporter for the Globe and Mail) who has forced a Public Inquiry into the RCMP handling of the “Portapique Shooter” – who killed 22 people in April, 2020.

The following week Trudeau passed a law banning semi-automatic weaponry.

I believe this was a well-planned, diabolical False Flag.

Paul does not agree with me but pondering my theory as he, after extensive researching, still cannot explain all the events that happened along with all the inexplicable gaps that evening/following morning.

It was completely mis-handled by the RCMP; or so it seems…….

New Zealand did exactly the same thing after the ChristChurch shooting. False Flag there as well?

Thank you

Hi Catherine,

Thank you for the invaluable content that you curate.

My question regards heritage and it's place in the UN Global agenda. I am a heritage practitioner and the remit of my role covers cultural, natural and built heritage. I have always viewed the primary purpose of National, European and International heritage organisations as being for the protection and conservation of all aspects of a Country's heritage. However, I recently learnt that Julian Huxley was instrumental in the formation of both UNESCO and the WWF. Any insight into ulterior motives of regional and global heritage organisations (built, natural and cultural) would be very much appreciated.

Thank you again for your courage and guidance.

Question:

Dear Catherine
Last night I watched David Icke's broadcast "The Walls Close in - Stop Fascism Now or It Will Be Permanent" https://www.bitchute.com/video/J5U7rURpihkS/

Icke talked about how people were physically abused by the police at the recent protests in London over the weekend and he also showed a horrifying clip of how a man was jumped and tazed by a group of security thugs after asking John Kerry an uncomfortable question. Icke then went on to say how the police need to be held accountable for their actions and that victims of police abuse should not shy away from exercising their's rights by making a citizen's arrest.

What is your knowledge of or experience with citizen's arrests? In theory it sounds like a jolly good thing but I wonder what the reality is of telling a policeman whilst he's beating you up that you're arresting him and of then calling the police and asking them to come and arrest one of their brothers in arms.

Hope you can set me straight on this one.

Regards

HI Catherine…

I am a newer subscriber so I was wondering how I find the responses that you make to the questions that are presented at the end of your weekly reports/updates?

They are really excellent questions but I want to hear what you answered...

Dear Catherine,
I just had a great call for help w/upgrading my Solari subscription. I’ve had quite a bit of trouble over the years since the platform was re-vamped and so just let it lapse for awhile, but then went month to month in hopes I could get over the tech glitch/hurdle that somehow seemed to stump both of us for awhile. Anyway, I just wanted you to know that Darlene has always been such a pleasure to talk to and work with and that as the “face” of your site, she does you very proud indeed. I’m confident you already know this, but still, I thought you might like to hear it.

Best of all, I’m able to once again enjoy the terrific content you and yours are sharing with the world in this time of great opportunity and spiritual shift for humanity.

Warm Regards,

Hi Catherine -
My oldest 17 yo grandson is extremely bright and free thinker and is asking me questions about the jab relating to going to school/college. Is he too young for me to give him a subscription to Solari? I suppose I would try out the 3 month one to see if he uses it. I don’t want to scare him but do want him to be aware.
Thanks again for ALL YOU DO!!!!!
You clearly are a bright person and able to read a ton (my learning disability gets in my way and it takes me a lot of time to read….but I do read what I can).

How does this fit i to the program?

Question:

Hi Catherine

Have listened to you being interviewed for quite a few years and have recently subscribed to have less distraction and hear more thought provoking discussion.

During the W regime/administration a document/decree/policy, not sure what it was called, was issued stating that US Corporations deemed systemically or strategically important were to be exempted from reporting accurate Financial Statements if it was in the best interest of the State.
I recall Rob Kirby a few years ago revealing that he too had read or seen the report but alas could also not lay his hands on it for further details.

I know I saw it, Rob saw it, did you or your team see it?

This policy is no doubt still in effect and adds further opacity to whatever it is that passes as a market economy, including the BlackRock roll. It really was a blunt statement of US economic reality yes it was ignored or just plain memory-holed.

Comments or opinion on this might be helpful to all.

Thanks and groetjes from Canada,

Hello Catherine:

I reside in western Canada, and I wish to express a contrary opinion to your own. You have suggested that the commonwealth has been disarmed. I vehemently disagree with this idea - the majority of western Canada is exceptionally well armed and well stocked in munitions. The western separation movement has an exceptional amount of popular support, although this is most likely irrelevant and politically impossible given the level of control that the British Crown has over Canada. Perhaps this is why the COVID restrictions in this area have been very light. The current attempt to restrict gun ownership is maybe what you are referring to. I have an enormous amount of respect for your ability to view reality in a very intelligent, wise, useful, and concise way. I prefer to message you privately on this topic, rather than on subscriber input.

Dear Catherine and Solari Team, dear Subscribers,

As someone who works with pharma industry (we represent producers of herbal extracts for drugs and food supplements and we work with registration of OTC drugs in EU), I would like to point out to this questionaries’ that we keep getting every few days from EC:

Basically, they are trying to find and involve as many companies in pharma supply chain as possible in the vaccine production and distribution. Most of the companies in pharma industry do not produce vaccines, but it looks like they are after getting everyone in the mix and I have read articles and heard in discussion some of our clients in the ex-Yu region ready to jump onboard, there are many new productions, warehouses etc being built, even though they know problems involved with vaccines. I find this evolution very troubling and probably it also indicates that the plan is to roll out many other vaccines for who knows what in the near future – it is like the pharma industry is turning mostly to this kind of products, which is really scary prospective.

Also, there is a huge push for digitalization in pharma processes, under excuse that paper trail is simply slowing development, trials and production – another very dangerous direction. Just like in case of digital money, only digital data on all pharma production processes, especially on clinical trials are not a good idea, because they can be changed at the push of button and any “unpleasant” data for pharma producer could be in theory deleted.

The registration of vaccines that we are seeing now is going against most of existing laws in EU, US and all over the world and they are creating very dangerous precedents from that point of view. Or in the words of one of our clients – if we were registering our products like this, we would be in jail long time ago.

Be careful and intelligent, do not take any of these “drugs” since they are not what a drug should be…

All the best to you all!

Catherine:

I greatly appreciate your thoughts about how all of these bizarre events on the planet are really about a war on God. May I offer some thoughts on this topic. Looking at all of the creative and obvious / not so obvious attempts to bring in the guns, I think these actions are a suitable metaphor for the war on god. The individuals, corporations, and international organizations that stand to benefit from having a disarmed population seem to be the same group that are attempting to get rid of God, while encouraging a connection to AI (or robotics) as you have suggested. As you are already well aware, the same group being protected by well armed security, have no issue with guns per se. Their issue seems to be that the ‘deplorables’ have access to them.

Took your suggestion and signed up with CHD. In their weekly mass email to subscribers, one recent article laid out how toxins in common, household substances lead to infertility. I believe that this is one aspect of your term ‘the great poisoning’. If debasing the population is the plan, can’t help but wonder where they want to go. You have also described how the financially well positioned seem to taking a larger ownership stake in the planet, implying that they have an invested interest in its success and future. To me, this sounds like an attempt to supplant God, and make themselves the 2.0 version.

Hi Catherine,

Thank you so much for the Battle for Humanity information….this has lead me to a text study (with no end times scenario) of the influences of the Old Testament on the Book of Revelations from the view of a 1st century Jewish Christian writing it. If one is to understand the fractals of this moment in time and space, it is best to be clear on this by giving oneself a scholarly grounding.

Another problem I have run into with the Battle for Humanity is that it just blows people away. I can’t give it to just anyone. One of my friends who understand esoteric literature and its preoccupations, told me that this was “profoundly disturbing”. and this is not someone who bolts easily.

I hope you can find the wherewithal to post something more in detail about “our side” of the battle—surely there is a clarion call somewhere that is not too loaded with Steinerisms? ( I am not dingin the Anthroposophists but rather saying that their language is a bit self limiting at times)

After listening to Money & Markets today, I was thinking about C’s comment that the blow back from the C-19 nursing home debacle (especially NYC) could potentially be a considerable problem for the going direct reset. I was curious to see what has been written about pending lawsuits from families, (which conceivably could mushroom) and ran across this article which names’ names in various places (USA). https://www.abajournal.com/magazine/article/coronavirus-related-deaths-in-nursing-homes-seed-lawsuits-and-questions-about-whos-responsible

Question:

Hi Catherine,

Just wanted to know if you’ve seen these very ominous timelines for the Great Reset. These psychopaths are just rolling along, without any care for the rest of us. It just floors me that all these governments are just rolling over.

This interesting thing is the UK has just announced (somewhat quietly) that they are going to ‘take over’ the Liverpool city council. It seems that’s part of the plan – get rid of local control.

This is unbelievable. I know you’re in the Netherlands now – are you going to stay there through this or go back to Tennessee?
We’re in Lugano, Switzerland, and I’m pondering what to do and when to do it. We don’t have any property in the US anymore, but we do have a small house on a mountaintop in southern Tuscany. Although Italy seems like it may go full fascist. I was thinking of fleeing to Central America (Costa Rica or Nicaragua).

Thanks,

Question:

Hi Catherine,

I am a new subscriber to Solari.

The reason that I decided to subscribe is because I was watching a video that you recently put out and you mentioned that in the PDF "State of our Currencies" that you reveal who "Mr. Global" is.

I had read this PDF, and I saw a brief mention of the Rothschilds and Rockefellers:

Question #5: Who is Mr. Global and what is the governance structure on Planet Earth?

We live on a planet where everything is secret. Dr. Farrell’s assessment is that Mr. Global is like the Venice of yore, with a hidden nobility that has been operating likely for centuries. (Note that Venice came up with the idea of a maximum carrying capacity for the planet well before Malthus.) Families such as the Rockefellers and Rothschilds are the front men for something far older. The technocratic managerial class that runs things on a day-to-day basis reports to this secret group—whatever it is.

There are many theories as to who the equity owners of the Planet Earth subsidiary might be, ranging from a separate civilization located on Earth (see Mac Tonnies' book Cryptoterrestrials) to interdimensional beings—but what seems clear is that we are being run by somebody who thinks of themselves as a different species. It is difficult for the general population to fathom that they are dealing with a leadership that is either a different species or psychopathic or both.
Let's not lose sight of the idea that each human is a sacred individual with divine rights—it is a powerful model. This is the basis of real, positive change.

I have done a lot of research into the NWO and the Globalists. A lot of people have pointed to the Rockefellers and Rothschilds as the people who are at the "center of the web". But I was curious about who the specific people are who actually run the "center of the web". Can we name these people? Will we be persecuted for doing so?

It seems that most people who talk about this subject can talk about the NWO for hours and hours, but when it comes time to specifically name who is at the center of the web, they become shy to do so. That makes me suspect that there is some danger in naming the specific power people holding the reins in the NWO. However, I would still like to know specifically who these people are. I think I could learn a lot about the NWO, where we are headed, what these people want, and how to protect my family if I knew who these people are.
I suspect this is one of the people at the center of the web. I recently took a screenshot of a news video depicting Lynn Forester De Rothchild meeting with the Pope. It was just a short clip, and people who don't follow this type of thing wouldn't think anything of it, but it caught my attention:

I also had another question for you, which is off topic, but I thought you might be in a situation to help. My father recently started showing signs of Alzheimer's. He has been rapidly going down hill the past couple of months. He can't remember what was said to him from minute to minute.

My fear is for my mother because my father's money is tied up in one big account and it's all invested in stocks. In the event that he gets so bad that we are forced to put him in a nursing home, I believe that the nursing home would take all of his money. Unfortunately, my mother needs this money to live on. She needs to pay bills for water, heat, electric, ect. I am trying to figure out a way for her to preserve and protect this money so she has money to live on.

Luckily, my father had the foresight to put the house in a trust so if he was put into a nursing home, at least the house would not be accessible by the gov't or the nursing home.

In any case, I was wondering if you might be able to suggest a good will/trust lawyer who could assist with providing information about how to protect this money. The trick is that my parents live off of the income that the stocks generate. Also, it's in an IRA so if my father was to take this money out, he'd immediately have to pay a 20% fee for selling the stocks. He was thinking about putting all of the stocks into a trust, but that might make the money completely inaccessible. So I was wondering if you might know of a good lawyer who could help my mom protect this money so she has money to pay her bills in the event that my father has to go into a nursing home. You seem to be very fluent in money and finances, so I thought you might be a good person to ask.

Thanks for all your help. I found The State of our Currencies to be a fascinating read. I like your Yellowstone quote. That's a great series, and it has some interesting philosophical components weaved into the narrative.

Thanks,

Question:

Dear Catherine

In your recent interview with Dark Journalist you tell about the rigorous vetting process you had to go through before your appointment as Assistant Secretary of Housing. If this rigorous investigation is standard practice, how is it that so many public officials are such corrupt criminals? Is it a fault in the vetting process, is it that the public officials... start off with honor and integrity and if then become corrupt once they are in office, or is it something else?

On a completely different topic, with all the talk I am hearing about digitalization - digital currency, digital teaching, digital ID, even digital humanity - my mind goes back to an interview you had with Dr Farrell back in 2015, 'The Bilderbergers'. On page 36 of the transcript you mention 'special breeding' programs.

You go on to say, 'Of all the secrets I’ve ever dealt with, this is – by the families involved – quiet. It’s one of the big ones, but it’s quiet, quiet, quiet. Nobody mentions it, and one of the reasons is that nobody wants to hurt each other’s feelings when they discover who they really are. One of the reasons why I keep thinking about it is, to go back to IBM, IBM runs and provides the database technology and computing power for the Holocaust. We now have IBM doing the database technology and systems for the census, the smart meters, and all sorts of other home and residential related programs. They’re the ones with Watson – the huge artificial intelligence behemoth. At the same time, we have an effort by a variety of parties to map the DNA and get everybody to voluntarily get their DNA mapped. You’re thinking, “That all goes up into that database.” It’s almost as though they want to be able to understand who everybody really is."

Then you add, "I have to tell you I think it’s very important not to be in the database." and I immediately thought of the PCR test swabs and the almost paranoid effort uner way to get everyone tested.

Have you had any updates or new insights on this since then?

By the way, I have attached a copy of the front page of this past Saturday's Daily Star, a British tabloid newspaper.

Best regards as always

Question:
Dear Catherine,

Thank you for your work. It is a strange and unexpected situation to hear things you feel and observe to be true, from a person so far away, both physically as well as ideologically. I have been subscriber for a couple of months and need to read in further detail the documentation you put forward. I just wanted to send you two images taken less than a month ago on Gran Canaria, Canary Islands, Spain. They seemed meaningless or just incomprehensible to the people who see them there, but I got goosebumps. The mask publicity, in a second hand tech reseller says: "a new period of market performance is opening up, which at the same time fulfills environmental reference marks as well as those of health and market security." The other image doesn’t need translation. Just curious if you know more about the connexion between blackrock, Grupo Prisa and the Spanish COVID situation?

Wish you a good week,

Hi Catherine,

Exodus 33:13 “Now therefore, I pray thee, if I have found grace in thy sight, shew me now thy way, that I may know thee, that I may find grace in thy sight: and consider that this nation is thy people.”

My question for this week: How do Government Pensions fit into The Going Direct Reset?

I am currently receiving a disability support pension from the Australian Government. It is a material amount which sustains my all-in living costs (AUD$20k tax free). It is not subject to assets or income testing because I have a permanent disability. The pension, as it stands, also allows unlimited portability (I can live anywhere in the world for as long as I want, and I still get paid the full amount). I assume this will be paid via the going direct system when the RBA comes out with their Digital Aussie Dollar Crypto Control System. Given the government has huge amounts of information on me (my passport, birth certificate, health history, genetics via DNA sequencing saliva samples, home address and contact information, and so on), Should I prepare for not receiving this tax free income in the future so I am not under their control system? Do you believe they would link vaccination records to the requirements of this payment? Do you think I would need to give up more of my freedom to continue to receive this payment once going direct is implemented in Aus.? If I cancel this payment, it is relatively difficult to apply for it again, requiring another medical specialist assessment and an interview etc… and if it is approved it may be subject to more criteria like portability reductions.
I want to be as independent from the government as possible, so I am willing to give up this payment if my sovereignty, freedom, or health are in question.

Thanks in advance Catherine,
You are truly a blessing and am very grateful for your wisdom.
Heart Blessings,

“It’s officially now an offence to LEAVE England.

After four hours of debate yesterday in the House of Commons, the United Kingdom has approved an emergency measure that will, among other restrictions, fine Brits who LEAVE the country without a qualifying reason.

Ironically, the British government insists they can legally impose these new rules because of authority that was granted to them under a law called the Public Health Act… which just happened to be passed in… 1984.

Starting on Monday, anyone who leaves England must submit papers making a certified declaration of their reason for leaving. The authorities will then retain the discretion to fine travelers £5,000— nearly $7,000, if the reason isn’t valid.

The government has provided a list of 14 valid excuses, such as a professional football team traveling for a match. This is totally fine.

But someone who wants to attend a religious pilgrimage is forbidden to travel. So is someone who wants to visit an elderly parent they haven’t seen since 2019, unless it is a parent whom the traveler “reasonably believes is dying.”

How magnanimous.
By the way, these new rules come despite Members of Parliament acknowledging in debate yesterday that 95% of Brits over the age of 60 have been vaccinated.

This means that the most vulnerable population has been administered a vaccine that they insist is safe and effective.

So… why the harsh lockdown rules?”

Here are the new rules: https://www.legislation.gov.uk/uksi/2021/364/contents/made

Question:

Correct me if I am wrong, but in the US, vaccine manufacturers enjoy liability protection for only vaccine products, and not drugs in general. Since the Pfizer and Moderna “vaccines” by definition aren't vaccines at all, and instead are gene manipulation treatments, admittedly from their own literature and filings, then wouldn't they be unable to claim liability protection under the 1986 NCVIA? Or does the PREP Act supersede NCVIA? If so, does the PREP Act protection sunset at some point?

You’ll not read this in the MSM: the Italian Minister of Health Roberto Speranaza got a bucket of feces mixed with glue dumped on his head and nobody is arrested. The official was leaving a brothel at 3 am. This news is a secret because their government don’t want this information to inspire the partisan movement around the world. The young athletes who are suspected gym owners got away from minister’s security accompanying the lawyer-appointed-to-run-lockdowns. This is the second bucket the Minister endured, the first was when he was entering a restaurant. Despite the whole might of police and the Mail Police trying to identity the young men, they couldn’t – due to masks the young men were wearing. It’s apparent that the partisans had full knowledge of Speranza’s movement and police is looking for the leaker. But even more. The news that Estonian director of a hospital got a bucket of urine on his head too. The link is below. It’s in Russian. The source is the opposition group including middle or high-positioned Italian officials and this is how we got to know about it.

Great Barrington Declaration Scientists with Gov. DeSantis in Florida
AIER Staff – March 18, 2021

Florida Governor Ron DeSantis, on the one-year anniversary of the lockdowns, invited back the scientists behind the Great Barrington Declaration, signed at the offices of the American Institute for Economic Research, for a roundtable on the Coronavirus and the policy response. It is exceptionally educational, and points to the reality that the lockdowners have lost the debate for lacking any evidence that their soul-crushing policies are good for public health. These heroic scientists departed from the media/government narrative when it mattered most. As a result, some states followed their point of view and their views have shown to be correct during the worst policy year of our lifetimes.

Dear Catherine

Professor Richard Werner is the author of ‘Princes of the Yen’. His article on how banks create money out of nothing was featured in John Titus’s video ‘Mommy, Where Does Money Come From?’.

In this short video clip Werner explains his research on interest rates “Interest Rates – The CON of the Century” https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=JD2z4l1DiBw and he goes into this in more detail in his article ‘Reconsidering Monetary Policy: An Empirical Examination of the Relationship Between Interest Rates and Nominal GDP Growth in the U.S., U.K., Germany and Japan”

Werner proposes that for the past 200 years we have been taught that the way to stimulate economic growth is to lower interest rates. We all learn this rule in Economics 101 and it is constantly repeated by central bank policy makers of all hues throughout the world.

Professor Werner, however, has analysed 4 major countries over the past 50 years and the facts show that there is absolutely no empirical evidence to support the supposed truth that lower interest rates stimulate the economy (or vice-versa).
Werner’s research shows that in contrast to what we have all been taught and what the taking heads continually spout as fact, there is no negative correlation between economic growth and interest rates. In fact it is the opposite, namely that interest rates FOLLOW growth, and growth cause rates to rise.

Upon reflection, this makes sense to me since economic growth implies an increased demand for money and according to the basic laws of supply and demand an increased demand for money would make itself manifest in the price of money, ie interest rates.

Werner’s analysis of the facts turns current wisdom over on its head; moreover it helps one to understand why despite lower and in some cases negative interest rates the economy is not growing.

The conclusion is that interest rates should not be used for economic policy making.

Question:

Dear Catherine

In last week’s 'Ask Catherine' you suggested looking into how people coped with economic collapse in other countries. Here I can recommend 'Reinventing Collapse' by Dmitry Orlov (who has already appeared on Solari). Orlov recounts how people survived in the Soviet Union and compares and contrasts this with some possible scenarios for the US.

In your reply you mentioned a video about how people coped in Jamaica. Can you recall the name of that video?

I don't know if you've answered this question before, but presuming you have a daily routine, what do you read or look at on a daily basis in terms of newspapers, magazines, blogs, newsletters or web sites?

Wishing you a wonderful weekend ahead.

Question:

Hello Catherine,

Thank you for all you do! Your research and expertise has been so helpful towards my own personal studies. I have a question about whether America is a corporation or Republic. Making a long story short, I came across the discussion of the empire of the city/unholy trinity: city of London, Vatican, and Washington DC and how the act of 1871 legitimized the District of Columbia actually changed our country into a corporation. I’ve provided some links below, but they’re not necessarily well cited. I’m hoping you have perhaps already covered this in the past or maybe you would be willing to do further research to help bring clarity and share the sources you find with me and your audience.

http://www.federaljack.com/slavery-by-consent-the-united-states-corporation/

https://www.law.cornell.edu/uscode/text/28/3002

https://nicklasarthur.wordpress.com/2013/08/08/the-empire-of-the-city/

This one below is the one that rings a bell the most for me because it explains why there may be birth certificates and how FDR and the new deal is tied in to it all through the Great Depression and the centralizing power.

I got started down this rabbit hole when trump supporters made claims that there are 2 presidents and that the “corporation of America” is bankrupt, and therefore, the pentagon and the military are running the show while Biden plays fake president. Trump is waiting until the military drains the swamp, then he will be legitimized as president publicly. I still don’t see this as true and it seems quite absurd in many ways and a pipe dream for his cult following. However, what stood out to me was the corporatization of America in history by the city of London. I know the brits have worked hard to regain us as a colony, so perhaps they did so undercover through wars and depression and then buy ups just like they did with other countries?
Also, I always say that America was founded on corporations (Massachusetts Bay Colony) and slavery. How you start is how you finish, right? And, it seems that we are under the same scenario of the combo of state and private rulership of the states.

Last, did you know Mussolini said that fascism was the same thing as corporatism? So did FDR, Trotsky, and others except they replaced corporatism with capitalism. I’m still trying to wrap my head around everything and understand how I can be separated from the evil and preserve my integrity by learning more of the truth and find solutions to do the right thing. Everything I thought I knew is now flipped on its head...in short, I working hard to come clean and make sure that I’m making conscious decisions to build a pro-human world.

Anyway, thanks again, and I look forward to your reply! Take care!

Sorry I sent the wrong link to explain the empire of the city and America Inc in my previous email. Here’s the one I meant to send:

Hello Solari family and Catherine,

This is off topic, and yet, not. I wrote a book about how suffering opened me to the knowledge that we are eternal and we are loved. I had a brain stem stroke and dropped out of society when 43 years old in the midst of a stellar career. When I was dying of the fatal blood cancer that had caused the stroke, after ten years of minimal ability to walk or talk, I had an epiphany. The book is about this, and how to live with the spark blasting out with joy that expands beyond yourself to lift up others. Here is a link on Amazon:
It is available in soft and hard cover, only, for now. It will be on Kindle in about a month, so my publisher says.

It’s the culmination of about a decade of thought about it, and about four years in the writing of it. Whew. We elders (I’m now turning 68) need to uplift this troubled planet. This is my effort to do so.

If you happen to do me the honor of reading it, it will help me reach more readers if you are moved to leave a Five Star review on Amazon.

With blessings and love Patricia Wagner (pen name of XXXX)

Just passing along—Dr. Scott Johnson does updated lists on weaponized injection deaths. https://www.contendingfortruth.com/bombshell-covid-19-vaccine-documentedinjuries-compilation/ He makes it clear that only about 1% are being reported. PTHALATES FOR THIS GUY:

A recent article in Scientific American https://www.scientificamerican.com/article/reproductive-problems-in-both-men-and-women-are-rising-at-an-alarming-rate/ consolidates the findings of numerous studies in human fertility and the sum is sure to alarm those of any age, but particularly parents and grandparents of the Future of Mankind. “…the rates of declining sperm counts, decreasing testosterone levels and increasing rates of testicular cancer, as well as a rise in the prevalence of erectile dysfunction. On the female side of the equation, miscarriage rates are also increasing by about 1 percent per year in the U.S., and so is the rate of gestational surrogacy. Meanwhile, the total fertility rate worldwide has dropped by nearly 1 percent per year from 1960 to 2018.”

It’s not a surprise that the War On Men via Endocrinol Neutering has had this effect, but apparently there is a corresponding and equally disturbing trend in females. The current concerns include chemicals Bisphenol A and Pthalates, found environmentally all around us. And while there are those who can look at dozens of high-flying aircraft fogging what started out as cerulean blue skies on any day and say they are condensation trails, the aerosols being dispensed above most population centers do not behave ephemerally as so-called “contrails” should. Who indeed knows what is in our air and falling to our grounds, drawn into our houses via “fresh air” intakes for HVAC and so forth? At least half of us won’t even acknowledge what they’re seeing, and virtually nothing appears in mass media or widely circulated government publications, the sole “trusted sources” for many. But this recent article in NYT (probably in some obscure corner) does at least present the same endocrine-disruptor case [https://www.nytimes.com/2021/02/20/opinion/sunday/endocrine-disruptors-sperm.html].

Add this to your growing list of concerns, and at least “[s]tore food in glass containers, not plastic. Above all, don’t microwave foods in plastic or with plastic wrap on top. Avoid pesticides. Buy organic produce if possible. Avoid tobacco or marijuana. Use a cotton or linen shower curtain, not one made of vinyl. Don’t use air fresheners. Prevent dust buildup. Vet consumer products you use with an online guide like that of the Environmental Working Group.” Give your grandchildren a fighting chance to have their own.

This is an account of a friend in California concerning the human trafficking of children in Tijuana. We are continually being diverted from other issues. This is criminally tragic.

As we were coming back to the US we saw an unusual amount of children, some unaccompanied, others with very young couples. Some with a father or a mother only, babies even! I was very surprised, they were begging for money but they didn’t really look like beggars. These children were exposing their lives, by walking about where there’s so many cars trying to enter into the US

I made the comment that I have never seen so many children and I have been crossing the border for 40 years.

Well, today I learned that President Biden announced that “Any ten year old that makes it across the border will be allowed to stay in the US” As we have seen in the past, this kind of policy only opens the door for children trafficking. The amount of children on the road was just astonishing!

I was able to take only a handful of photos because as soon as they saw me with the camera, many hid, or run away.

Dear Ms Fitts, dear Solari team,

Last October, when it was time for my renewed subscription to the Solari report, my visa card was rejected. At first I thought about an issue with your secured payment platform but, your team confirmed it came from my bank: LCL (major French bank). The same week, I did receive a letter from my bank telling me, quite simply, that the Solari site was considered a fraudulent site, from the US, and that I had to give full details of the site in question to request authorization for the payment. Until then, my visa card was locked for all international payments (!!). It was also mentioned that the ban was only on US sites… of course, Amazon US still worked, I tried. No need to ask and “authorize” this one!
I then contacted my local branch manager to understand what was going on. She was only able to tell me that there was nothing she could do about it, because it came from a new (quote) “directive” (which she could not name of course), banning “fraudulent sites” to “protect” me.
It took me about 4 Months and much phone calls to force my bank to lift the ban on your site.
At first, I thought it was a specific action directed against me but, I quickly realized that this ban came from above and had nothing to do with little old me., Rather an automated AI ban on your site. I had to push her patience (calling every other day) to finally have her spit the only thing she knew: this ban was released at international level. Followed by “sorry can’t help you, we must comply and you must comply and ask for a temporary lift”. Temporary? I candidly asked. “yes, you will need to ask every year”!!

I guess that I have learned my lesson here, it is the first time that something like this happens to me. No personal paranoia here, M.Global would not spend that much money just on me. But it is a scary feeling when it happens to you when one think of the implications.
So I felt I had to share this story with you.

First step: come clean! (thank you for the lesson!)
I changed bank to a regional bank actually investing in the local economy (hard to find in France!), with a local office I can visit and face a human being to deal with my banking activities. But I am no fool and clearly understand that the global technocracy is very active since Feb2020 to take over what’s left: individual liberties. I figured that my problems were just starting as I have simply no control over my money as long as it stays in a bank. Frightening thoughts

It became more obvious why I had no leverage over this when I remembered that I had no investment left with my bank I could bargain with…
For the story, 15 years ago, I took all my savings and decided to invest, together with a few other families, in real hard asset that we could control, one that would give real fruits to the future of my family and our community: organic agricultural land. And offering a local farmer this land to secure organic food for my community. Since then, 80+ families joined and our activities have expanded to all the organic food supply we could find regionally (meat, fruit, oil, wine & cheese – indispensable down here! -, fruit juice, organic seed banks, bred, and so on). The goal being to pull out of the predator market our food supply(iers) and yes, go direct! We pay every Month our farmer with a decent fixed salary, whatever the yield, and split evenly the entire production among us. By offering genuine, intelligent human solidarity on the table, we keep our food supply out of the market and secure a proper livelihood for our farmer. He does not have to worry about what tomorrow will bring and we don’t have to worry about it either. Our moto is stay healthy, it will keep you sane. Bring your community together, then you can fight back.

I cannot thank you and the Solari team enough for your amazing work. It is offering our community cartridges with hard information and knowledge to try unplug others from the technocratic plandemic entrainment. We use the hard copy reports as base for discussions regularly and I must say that even within our members, lifting the veil is not easy and can be costly. We have lost dear friends in the process who now change pavement when they see us in the street. And it is hard for the heart. Manichaeism is omnipresent. No more grays, only black or white.

I feel I could press the red button any time.
Count me in

Yours sincerely

Question:

Having kids working from home, how would they know if there was some form of brainwashing going on....especially if a google employer or other tech company was involved?

I fear for my children’s minds, and they don’t seem to completely get what is going on with this.

Everyone should be aware that this has been standard operating procedure since the 1960s ... think protests by blacks and Indians in the 1960s. If you think that 'protest groups' in Canada are not subject to the same infiltration, then you are very naive. Be ready to identify infiltrators if you join ANY 'protest' group.

Take Care,

Question:

Hi Catherine!
I've been wondering if you know this song. I believe it addresses the issue of transhumanism better than any prose I can think of. I hope you enjoy it, and can share it.
Best Wishes,

Question:

Dear Catherine,
My wife and I have been reading your reports for several weeks now and are absolutely amazed at your brilliant abilities and courage to expose the truth. We can only imagine the arrows that you must have to dodge all the time as we choose to live our lives as real, Bible-based, Christians rather than Sunday, or politically correct Christians. The challenge that we have and the challenge that we would like to present is showing us how to find solutions in protecting and/or shielding ourselves from what is going on around us. At least based on our brief experience of your service, as it can become overwhelming, to be told that the shit is about to hit the fan everywhere without being told how to build a shit shelter, lol. Yes, I try to use humor to keep from losing my sanity. So please avail us to your wisdom and experience as to what you might be doing to protect your loved ones.
Respectfully,

Question:

Hello Catherine,

I am a monthly subscriber.
I want to order Visions of Freedom, yet it is unavailable in The Book Store.
Please advise.

Blessings and Thank you for all you do.

I am enjoying my daily prayer book as well.

Truly,
