Catherine and the entire Solari family-

I would first like to share my sincerest gratitude and appreciation for everything that you do. After first hearing about The Solari Report, it took me longer than I would like to admit to become a member. It has taken longer still to truly make use of the "actionable intelligence" you provide - though I can assure you that I am living as free and inspired a life as I am able within my circumstances. Better every day, as they say.

Recently, I had an idea that I believe has legs, but I am totally unsure of how to make any use of it. Having never started a business or done anything remotely close, the process is very daunting. Are there any resources or advice that you could provide for a person who is first embarking on their entrepreneurial venture?

In the interest of context, I'd like to share the idea and a little background. The "elevator pitch" is GrubHub or DoorDash for local farms. Basically, I'd like to design and implement to make it easier for consumers to buy meat, produce, and even groceries from local farms. There are some resources that already exist that help, but none that are all-in-one - I can't browse multiple farms' inventories and place an order for delivery or pickup.

To be frank, I'm not sure that I'm the person to even do something like this. I still have many other ideas, so advice on entrepreneurship would still be appreciated. However, maybe you or someone you know might have the know-how and resources to make use of the idea.

Again, words hardly express the thanks I hold in my heart for your efforts. You are among the relatively few lights in the darkness, and the world needs more light these days.

Have a very merry Christmas!

Question: 2 part question
Dear Catherine,
Warm greetings, and thank you for your wonderful work defending our rights and freedoms! As a subscriber to the Solari Reports, and knowing no one more expert on these questions than you, I would love your advice about my financial situation, especially as the central bank digital currency takeover approaches.

My situation is this. I am a dual US and Australian citizen but having been living abroad in Asia (mostly India) for decades. I have no intention of returning to either of my passport countries, and am presently actively looking for a new country where I can obtain permanent residency or citizenship, and join a community of like-minded others living sustainably and in freedom off the grid.

Meanwhile, however, my money is currently in two bank accounts in the US, Bank of America and Amalgamated Bank (I access them by ATM wherever I am in the world) and I would like to get it out and move it into a safer form, in light of the coming central bank digitalization and total control. Ideally I would like to move it out of the US altogether (as I myself have no other connections there, property, etc., have never lived there in my entire adult life, and do not ever want to.) At the moment, the banks use my brother’s address in New York, which makes me particularly nervous, because he is, unfortunately, going along with the agenda, and I am afraid that he would cooperate with the banks in blocking my access to my accounts because I am unvaccinated (and have also written many articles against the agenda! e.g., Big Tech, Big Pharma, Big Data, Big Brother and Mistaking the Problems for the Solutions: Reversing the Fatal Flaw Behind Our Proliferating Crises).

Eventually (hopefully very soon) when I find that country and community where I can live freest from the Great Reset agenda (and please if you have any ideas about where this might be, do let me know!) I will move my money into land and local currencies or credit unions. But meanwhile I need to know the best way to move my money out of the control of the US and central banking system, into a form that safeguards it and by which I can continue to access it internationally as I travel in search of my new home.

So the question is, under these circumstances, what would you suggest I do with my money to safeguard it and my continued access to it, now and in the future, out of the control of the central banks? (Is there such a thing as an international credit union, for example, and would that be free from the CBDC control?…or any other ideas you have…)

If you like, we could talk about this on a call; I am happy to pay a consultation fee for your services. Many, many thanks for your kind help, and your inestimable clarity in the face of these unprecedented and very complex times!

Best regards,

K

PS. Just a note of explanation, as I know my situation is unusual -- One of the reasons it’s been hard for me to find the right community is that I am primarily a spiritual practitioner, living in ashrams, monasteries, etc., for years, and want to continue to do so, but almost all of them are now complying with the Covid/Great Reset agendas (either through their own ignorance, or forced to by the governments). I also love living in Asia, but the Asian countries have been amongst the most draconian in enforcing the Covid agenda. So, after many years here, I am really feeling quite stranded (right now I am in Nepal, as India has just cleared us foreigners out...)

I do know of some family-based off-the-grid communities starting in places like Mexico and Brazil, but that is very different from my priorities and lifestyle. My hope is to find or create with others a spiritual activist centre (ashram or monastery style, but progressive and new-paradigm) -- here is my vision -- if you know of any communities like this already existing, people who might be interested, or a country most propitious for this, please do let me know:

Thanks so much again for all your great work!

Dear Catherine,

Warmest greetings again, Catherine! I sent you a message some days ago requesting advice about my financial situation. Since then I’ve read more articles of yours and also saw your wonderful interview with Reiner Fuellmich – which have given me still more sense of the urgency of the situation, and also suggested more avenues out of it! In one of the articles you urge people to get their money out of NY banks, and say there are some great banks they can use instead that will not be part of the CBDC agenda. Can you tell me the names of those banks? That could really help solve my problem.

Also, I’ve discovered a credit union called Alliant Credit Union which apparently I could access internationally – can you tell me if that would also a good option, ie, that they won’t come under the control of the CBDC takeover?

By the way, can you also tell me if Amalgamated Bank will come under the CBDC plan or not? I’m assuming it will, but don’t know for sure. That is the bank I currently have most of my money in, and would like to know if how urgent it is that I move it. These are the questions whose answers would be most helpful to me right now, so if you could please let me know I would be very grateful!

Below is a copy of the message I sent you last week (on the Solari online form and also by email), which gives more background to my situation (I know you are very busy so even if you don’t have time to read it all, your answers to the above questions would might actually be all I need right now!)
As I say, I am happy to pay you a consultation fee if you would like to speak about this on a call instead. Thanks again for your fantastic work – you’re a gem of clarity and resourcefulness!

Two questions on TX Billion Depository

Question:
Dear Catherine,

I had the good fortune to be able to deal directly with Franklin Sanders when transferring my entire IRA into precious metals last week.

The question now is, use a Depository in MA or TX?....In light of the current political situation, my intuition is telling me that, since I live in the South now, and intend on staying here, and because I frankly do not trust the jurisdiction of MA currently and perhaps into the future, I would be best off using the depository in TX. I have 11 years before I can withdraw.

I am asking you because I have to make a decision this week, and transferring the metals to TX will incur an expense, but for some reason it just feels right.

Am I nuts, or do you think there might be a good reason to go with Texas?

Kind Regards,

M

Hi Catherine:

Love the Solari Report and all you do for us.

My question is about the Texas Bullion Depository. We recently relocated to the Austin area and we’re wondering if this would be a safe place to store gold and silver.

Thank you 🙏

Question:
Hi Catherine:

Regarding John's excellent report on S. Omarova, I came across a piece that bears watching if her nominations fails.

Lee Harris, in the progressive journal "The American Prospect," lays out how Omarova could be appointed as acting deputy and run the OCC in an acting capacity. See:
https://prospect.org/power/how-biden-could-override-democrats-wall-street-omarova-occ/

Many thanks for all you do--and for featuring John's work and the exceptional work of so many others.

From TIL/Reddit:
TIL, as of February 2021, the U.S. Mint had 147 million troy ounces of gold on reserve at Fort Knox, 54 million at West Point, and 44 million in Denver.

Do you feel that's true? I remember theories the Rockefeller Boys had emptied out Knox back in the day. Do we keep gold on hand now?

Question:
Hi Catherine,

I love your material, and I couldn't support your principles more, but as one who has both an investment banking background (like you) and a current professional role in the crypto currency industry, I have to ask you about your reluctance to embrace the power of the digital asset space for good.

I totally appreciate and agree with the potential threat from CBDC's, though I believe that this can be mitigated. I also totally get the threat from the open surveillance of public blockchains. Still, as one who is professionally involved in the space, I believe you are missing the significance of what crypto's can (and likely will) do for freedom and the resistance against 'Mr. Global'

If you think it's helpful, I offer my services and would love to have a discussion. I firmly believe that like all technology, there is great risk, but that there is also great opportunity. Technology does not favor one side, it only amplifies each side's ethics and commitment. Our job then is to optimize the benefit, and I further think that this space even favors our common cause given the size of its potential constituents.

If you find value in discussing digital assets further in some detail, I would love to do so.

Regardless, I love and support your work. Keep it up!

Thanks!
B LP

Question:
Hi Catherine,

Merry Christmas!

First of all, I just wanted to acknowledge the magic of the Solari report. Somehow it just keeps getting better and better. I love the addition of the Steiner material, cash Friday, subscriptions to give away - wow!

Secondly, I have been thinking about ways to buy and sell outside the system once digital banking gets underway, and I have been wondering why people couldn't just continue to use the currency they were using before digital banking. The system is already in place and we're all used to it. It wouldn't be backed by anything, but it already isn't backed by anything. Do you think it would work?

Thanks,

K
Question:
Catherine,
I have millions invested with UBS, and after watching “Monopoly” I’m pretty sure most of it is invested in “enemy” corporations like IBM.

UBS handles 100% of my money My husband used to handle all the finances, but he died 7 years ago. Since then I have just left it up to my advisor. He’s a fast talker and I don’t understand most of what he says when he calls me. I’m 68 years old and feel pretty intimidated about all of this.

I did take steps this week to move my checking out of Wells Fargo. I opened an account with a local credit union bank. I have also started paying cash whenever possible.

I think the credit union bank has an investment division. Would it be wise to trust them with millions?

Please steer me in the right direction.

Question:
Dear Catherine,

Thank you for all you do for inspiring us and bringing us on your quest for searching out truth and honoring life. My husband and I have been self employed for most of our lives. We have spent so much of our attention on building business and we invested our money back into building the business. He just sold his business and is staying on as CEO. Now we actually have some money to invest in and are wanting to really educate ourselves on how to be good stewards of our money. I would be grateful on any advice you could give as to resources on starting to educate ourselves and point us in the right direction. Right now our money is in places that I am sure we will want to change out of once we know some better alternatives and have an understanding as to being responsible stewards of our money.
Thank you with much appreciation,

A

Question:

Part 1
Hi, I just subscribed yesterday and am reading "State of Our Currencies". I've seen mention of blockchain DLTs, but nothing about hashgraph (HG). If you aren't aware of HG, please check out swirls.com (the website of the patent holder) for an overview.

It is a fault-tolerant algorithm supporting hundreds of thousands of transactions/second (as opposed to the various blockchain based algorithms that support < 1000 tx/sec). I first learned about it in episode 8 found at hiddensecretsofmoney DOT com (which I also recommend).

Cheers,
-D

Part 2
Hi Catherine,

I just finished reading "The State of Our Currencies" and it was very well written and thought-provoking. I have a couple points of feedback for your consideration:

1) I encourage you to replace your use of "blockchain" with "distributed ledger", "distributed ledger technology" or DLT; a "blockchain" is a type of DLT, but as I have recently come to understand, not all DLTs are "blockchain". The crucial points I think you make when you refer to "blockchain" concern distributed ledgers (where more than two parties are privy to any transaction in a way that is cryptographically secure), and are not specific to blockchain implementations of DLTs.
2) In section X of "The State of Our Currencies", "Crypto Transaction Systems: Institutional and Retail Challenges", there is a subsection entitled "Energy" which claims "Crypto is phenomenally energy-expensive." Replace "Crypto" with "Bitcoin" and I agree, but there are other technologies (such as hashgraph, please see my previous message copied below for more info) which do not require the energy-intensive proof-of-work computations of the Bitcoin system and as such can run on virtually any peer-to-peer device including a smartphone. Oh, and hashgraph supports hundreds of thousands of transactions per second, several orders of magnitude greater than the blockchain-based cryptos. Obviously, high throughput is a requirement of any imagined payment system designed to replace existing payment infrastructure.

Also, today I was watching your interview with John Titus about CBDCs and holding on to cash. You made a comment to the effect "if we could get 5% of people to understand how money is 'created' we could change everything". Would an anonymous cryptocurrency (such as Monero) but which had low-computational requirements and the capability for high transactions per second help us "...not need central banks...we can do this ourselves" since "all solutions require that we end the monopoly on money"?
If you actually read this, I'm a software engineer currently working at Netflix but reconsidering most areas of my life. And yes, I suppose you can count me in the group of subscribers who are "successful people trying to manage risk".

Cheers,

-D

Question:
Hi Catherine,

Hope this finds you healthy and strong.

I'm wondering how do the porn "tube" sites monetize the visits?

I'll be giving a talk at our church men's group on porn addiction. After reading Jason Worth's book review of Gary Wilson's "YOUR BRAIN ON PORN..." I purchased the book for research. Turns out Jason Worth's book review was thorough enough I probably didn't need to read Wilson's book for the purpose of my talk...but best to not be lazy. Kudos to Jason for a job well done.

As Wilson describes how folks use the internet for porn viewing (lots of open tabs with users, mostly males, clicking from site to site), I got to wondering how do these sites monetize the use? Kickbacks from the entities that profit from the mind entrainment? Are users making a bunch of purchases afterwards?

The outline of my talk includes points on the science of porn use, mind entrainment, dangers of porn for control files, relationship damage, braking the cycle, help with accountability and forgiveness through Christ. Stepping outside of my comfort zone big time...trying to push back.

Kind regards,

D F
Hello Catherine!

First, thank you for all you and Solari do!! What I am learning is invaluable!

I am still a newer and financially naive Solari subscriber. However, I am determined to engage in "coming clean" as soon as I return to the US in January (so heartbroken, but hopefully not forever in the US), I plan on taking a hard look at my pension funds. In that regard, I wanted to understand HOW BAD some of those pension fund players are, and which ones I need to pull out of ASAP:

PERS
CalSTRS      ---these two I have little control over; already receive pension

TIAA (Cref)   ---have more control, but at the cost of penalties I'm ready to pay

Guardian Life Insurance
Nuveen muni bonds

I know you cannot give advice, but if you deem this question of relevance to others as well, I would be very grateful for your comments. I am really mostly interested in how bad these entities are.

Be well, be well - and the merriest of holidays!

Question:
Grade me on my grasp.

My local bank, I assume, practices fractional share banking which to me means I deposit 3K but they are allowed to lend 30K…..hence making money out of thin air.

The Federal Reserve bank prints money and loans it at interest to my local commercial bank when they need it??

The Federal reserve not only prints money but owns federal reserve banks like JP
Morgan

Federal reserve gives money to my local bank and some how JP Morgan gets rich off of stock….this is where I really get lost….can you or John give me the dumbed down version. We work in medicine so examples using something I have a clue about would be an added bonus to me getting this straight.

Thanks!

Question:
Subject: Bank loans

Description:
First of all, thank you very much for all the incredible work you are doing. I am full of admiration and gratitude.
I have a question and the answer may be of use to your readers, not just me. I am not financially minded at all so I find all such matters challenging to navigate.

The question is about a Bounce Back Loan which I took from the UK government. It seemed like a good "just in case" idea because the first payment wasn't due until a year after the application. As that date is now imminent, I have seen some of what you've been saying and saw that there have been land grabs in Australia - banks kicking people out of their homes because of some complex link to the bad mortgage debts from the last financial crisis, even though those people didn't have bad debts themselves. I am worried that having any debt to the government or a bank in the current climate leaves me a sitting duck. Somehow they will use some little-known aspect of this as a reason to take my home, simply because I am unvaccinated. Do you think this is likely? I haven't needed the money so far because I got government grants to make up for lost earnings, but that system has stopped so the next year is the time when I might need this Bounce Back Loan.

It sounds far fetched and paranoid, but these days nothing is too far fetched and paranoia is more about caution than madness.

I would really appreciate any information you could share on this matter.

Also, I saw somewhere on your site something about why you shouldn't ever buy with Amazon but I can't find it now.

Question:
Hi Catherine,

Jeff Snider and David Rosenberg are still stuck on the long-term deflation hypothesis primarily based upon the Bond Market, specifically the action of the 30 year Treasury.
Their big argument beyond the bond market is that CPI does not = Inflation. Hence the increase in CPI is due to Supply Demand shocks instigated by the magic virus situation. They say transitory price rises could be 1 to 2 years but then it’s likely to be a deflationary spiral and low rates for a long time. However, they mention nothing about money from the reserves circuit leaking into the retail circuit. And they say only a UBI, CBDC or Helicopter money will truly increase inflation.

It would be helpful if you could break down the causes of rising CPI prices and the medium/long-term outlook for Inflation and rates. How long will price rises last?

Thanks for all that you do.

Blessings,

Question:
Catherine,

Thank you for alerting me to this "strategy" to unearth and punish corruption in the financial sector and real estate markets.

Unfortunately, Catherine, as you know so well...government is a corruption machine. There is no political will to come clean or to willingly give up their debt slavery business model to better serve humanity.

How soon we forget our history:
• The Savings and Loan scandal of the 1980s
• The predatory lending that was institutionalized in the 1990s sanctioned by laws enacted by Congress in 1980 and 1982
• The repeal of Glass-Steagall in 1999
• The ramp-up in the Housing Bubble from 2000 to the Mortgage Meltdown in 2007
• The 2008 Financial Crisis followed by a tsunami in foreclosures that are still being processed in 2021

According to the National Mortgage News, the new trends in mortgage banking indicate that non-bank financial institutions will acquire more market share; technology will reduce the need for skilled staff; and new mortgage products designed to work around the CFPB's "Qualified Mortgage" parameters are in development.

The U.S. Taxpayers bailed out the big banks in 2008; no one was held responsible despite Senate hearings, the appointment of a Mortgage Fraud Task Force, FBI investigations; Securities litigation, etc. And no one went to jail!

The five pillars of the strategy below will not be implemented until the existing systems collapse and new systems are put in place that can detect crimes and corruption at the transaction level.

Your thoughts?

All best,

M

The United States’ Strategy on Countering Corruption, a 38-page document released Dec. 6, outlines five pillars characterizing its goals.

These are:

1. modernizing, coordinating, and resourcing U.S. government efforts to fight corruption;
2. curbing illicit finance;
3. holding corrupt people accountable;
4. preserving and strengthening the capacity to fight corruption; and
5. improving diplomatic engagement and leveraging foreign assistance resources to fight corruption.

Question:
Dear Catherine

As the drive to implement forced injections speeds up it is becoming an ever more real possibility that the front door will be busted down and we will be overpowered and physically forced vaccinated by the police, military, private mercenaries or even well-meaning (sic) vigilantes. Do you have any suggestions on how to behave in a situation in which any documents one might have prepared in advance are ignored?

What should one say or not say, or do or not do without getting killed in the process?

I presume that as one is being shackled or restrained one will not be able to photograph or record the incident and I doubt that the thugs will give their names or leave their visiting card.

If you have covered this before in another article or interview, could you please give me the link? Otherwise, any thoughts or suggestions would be very much appreciated.

That being said, your saying there are fates worse than death was a life changer for me. You cannot imagine how much inner strength it has given me to face the future without fear.

Please stay well and happy.

Catherine -

So many otherwise smart people actually think that crypto currencies are a) Safe from government confiscation / interference, b) Transactions are Anonymous, c) Actually have more value than fiat currencies and d) Are the ultimate in free market asset security.

Do they have a blind spot or are they stupid or are they paid deep state actors? Recently the FBI cracked the bit coin 'security' in 24 hours. Digital everything is traceable and traceable. And it’s more ‘fiat’ than fiat currencies.

Hello Catherine!

First, thank you for your tremendous contribution to my understanding of the totality of the scenario we are living through. Deeply appreciate it.

I have a solo 401k, and my intention is to clean my energy field from any companies that are constructing the new order.

It's my understanding that any publicly traded company is now guilty of that. Please correct me if I am wrong.

If I take the money out, there is a lot that will be deducted as a penalty. And I am wondering if there is a better way of rolling the money out of the stock market into a more flexible 401 account with options to invest into companies that will help us build the new world.

Please point me in the right direction. I just subscribed, so it's very possible that you have already answered this question, and I might just need to go and read/watch about it.

Thank you again,

LATE QUESTIONS
My elderly husband has a term policy. The payments are getting ridiculously high. He never expected to live this long! I am a little confused about whether or not to keep it as we sure could use the payment money and if he dies of Covid, there will be no payout, right? Maybe you know what is going on with life insurance industry right now? I hate to keep spending money for nothing. However, I understand that the insurance company would love us to cancel it at this point when he is nearly 80. We are practicing all the healthy immune system stuff and don't expect to really get COVID but there are a lot of false death certificates right about now. Your thoughts?? Thank you so much.

I am a 70 year old divorced woman and with everything I have heard about what is going to happen - banks crashing - dollar depreciating I am terrified. I sold my stocks and now don't know where to put my life savings. Its not much but it is all I have.

I'm thinking about buying gold and silver with 1/3 keeping 1/3 in cash and have just heard from a friend about private banking strategies. Where you are your own bank through whole life insurance. I just wanted to know if you have heard of this and if you feel it is safe?

Question:
Catherine:

I am trying to find a way to organize and track this information. I am tracking vaccine passport requirements in the US. I consider it a “passport” if proof of vaccine is required to dine in at a restaurant. It looks like a county by county, city by city, implementation. I am learning how to put these in a table on Libre office. It is being handed down by an “emergency proclamation” by the mayor or county executive. Meanwhile, the individual states are introducing an App to track and the media is hinting that eventually, you will need to have the app on the phone to qualify. I am not sure how valuable it is to track this, but I am hoping to be able to put these on a map and be able to place that map over the riot/protest map, etc….

Here is what I have so far:

Washington State:
Counties Requiring Vax Passport:
King County (Seattle and Bill Gates Home County)
Jefferson County
Clallam County

Cities: Seattle

California:
Counties: Contra Costa County, Riverside County, (maybe Los Angeles County, but I cannot confirm)

Cities: San Francisco, Los Angeles (Safepass LA App), Long Beach, Culver City, City of Berkley, West Hollywood, City of Palm Springs.

Hawaii: Entire State Restaurant must ask for proof of vaccine or limited to 50% capacity.

New York: City of New York.

Let me know if you have any thoughts on how to track this and if you think this a valuable exercise.

Thanks,

Dear Catherine,

Thank you for your ongoing leadership and support. You are a rock-star lightworker.

Before too long European countries are going to be mandating vaccines and issuing fines for none compliance. This is illegal, however, can't be ignored.

Could you lay out a customizable reply to the fines as they arrive that puts the onus on the issuer to prove that their requirement complies with international law and why they are issuing fines and mandating a drug issued with emergency use authorization only?

I'm not a lawyer and would appreciate guidance on what to do and what copies to retain to keep big-brother bully-boy tactics at bay (in the same way you provided templates for workplaces and schools).

Question:
Hi Catherine,

Really good to see your interviews about the financial coop of mr. Global.

I have the possibility to sell the rest of my shares (7 mio ) from the company by the end of the year. The other amount of shares is owned by private equity.

Because of the current inflation or coming deflation? I've some questions;

- What could we expect, more inflation in the EU ? What could be inflation proof ?
- Cyber attack and new push to the basic income and cbdc ?
- I refuse to work with the eID system so maybe I should be also disconnected from the grid.

So to the point. Shall I stay shareholder or create cash and mix invest in properties, stock gold etc. Or a catamaran ^^

Please let me know and thanks in advance.

Question:
Hi Catherine,

I’m not sure this is a valid question for the Ask Catherine venue, but I have found it useful and maybe you and others may, too?

Robert Kennedy recently mentioned that it would be useful to ask Socratic questions to people who don’t quite understand the ramifications of the perpetual boosters and vaccine mandates and vaccine passports.

I think you have mentioned this, too, and I’ve heard many other independent media folks talking about using questioning as a method to raise the awareness of these issues with people who are seemingly accepting of these affronts to our freedom, except I cannot find individual posts specifically itemizing such questions.

I’m starting to amass my own Socratic questions to ask my family this Christmas, and I’m even thinking of making it into a game, where I could put these questions on recipe cards, pile them upside down on the table, have a person pick a card and answer to the best of their ability. My hope would be to generate discussion about these issues because I am feeling like the time for discourse is rapidly deteriorating.

So my question is: do you have a compiled list of questions (using the Socratic method) relating to the issues and ramifications of vaccine efficacy, vaccine passports, and next steps?

It has been a fun exercise to try and craft questions without a yes/no response, and it is proving to be a challenge, especially when wording questions around data mining, privacy, and links between passports and banking.

Thank you for all of your help. Your resiliency inspires me, and your website provides me with much comfort and illuminating information.

Sincerely,

K S

But also, I think I shared the link impulsively. Apparently it is an entire dump of Wikileaks, but it also has a facebook tracking segment in the link.

So, it is above my head after all whether it is currently relevant, or even safe to access.

In any event, thank YOU for what you are doing! I am based in New Zealand where the Government is steadily capturing more workspaces under vaccination/digital certification mandate, sometimes obviously and sometimes using soft power through what is called a traffic light system.

Question:
Dear Catherine,

As Solari subscribers we are grateful for all of the resources, knowledge and insights you provide. Thank you!

Our daughter has been sanctioned and put on probation for refusing to consent to the COVID-19 testing mandate.

It appears that pushback against the injection and the mask seems to be flourishing, yet we are finding limited resources to help us fight the mandatory COVID testing, especially at universities.

It’s curious, too, that governors and elected officials are saying no to the mandated injection and the mandated mask, yet they seem to be silent on testing; that is, they seem to be fine with organizations mandating the test, and allowing businesses and universities to punish those who refuse. Do you have any thoughts on this?
Our daughter has a lot at stake if the university increases the penalties for her continued refusal, since she is due to graduate in May with three degrees.

She is in the fifth year of a five year Bachelor's and Master's degree program, with only two classes left to take in the Spring. The programs and degree paths are prestigious and competitive (Mays School of Business, Business Honors program, and the Professional Program in Accountancy), and there is a risk that she may be forced out of these because of these sanctions.

In addition, she has been offered and accepted a position upon graduation at a Big Four accounting firm. (Surprisingly, this firm will allow remote work anywhere in the country to avoid mandatory injections!) This offer of employment is also at risk due to the actions of the university.

We are submitting an appeal of the university's sanctions, even though the university seems to be violating their own student conduct process by not providing our daughter with an opportunity to appeal, as is their normal procedure.

In this appeal, our daughter would like to offer a reasonable accommodation in lieu of testing; that is, an offer to follow the COVID-19 policies that were put in place last year by the university, which included remote learning, masking, and social distancing. We believe that if this was policy last year, that it should not be a “hardship” on the university for her to do this instead of testing.

With only two more classes to complete before she graduates, we believe this is a reasonable request.

We are seeking legal representation to help with this, as it is likely that they may even prohibit her from appealing this decision. Also, the university stated that they will issue “more severe sanctions” if she has any further violations during her probationary period which is through March 11, 2022. This includes the possibility of expulsion from the university, in which she would lose almost five years’ worth of time, effort, and money, as well as her offer of employment.

We are at a loss on how to obtain an attorney to help us, as most are busy fighting the injection mandates, which we agree, are more of an urgent issue at the moment. Yet we still need help on the testing front.

We have joined and donated to Children’s Health Defense, as well as the Health Freedom Defense Fund, and have obtained their Notice for Employers, Universities and Other Institutions Mandating COVID-19 Tests, which provides legal support for our daughter’s position.

According to this Notice, our daughter DOES have the legal right to refuse the EUA testing, as it is considered an experimental medical procedure, and both CHD and HFDF state anyone coercing testing is breaking federal law.
She objects to being penalized for exercising her legal right to refuse; however, the university’s position is that their rule is “proper and lawful” and that their standards are “higher than civil and criminal law”. They also claim that they don’t require her consent to enforce this rule because she “voluntarily” attends the university. (As if she can easily change universities at this stage in her college career!)

A notice published by the Chief Compliance Officer of the university states “has the authority (emphasis mine) to conduct testing and provide consequences for individuals who elect not to participate…” We respectfully disagree with this, but we don’t know if we are legally correct.

As a gun toting, Bible thumping, flag waving homeschooler, she has been raised to stand up for her rights and for integrity. She feels very strongly about fighting this.

In a nutshell: Should she fight? Will she win? Who can help us?

One last question: Would this be an appropriate subject to bring up in a Solari Circle? We have been meaning to join, but have not yet done so. I hate to just join and cry out, “Help me!”, but that is how I feel at the moment.

Thank you for taking our questions, and opening up your life to us. I hope to meet you in person in the near future.

Gratefully yours,

G B

Amid the humor, there is an important observation. If the future is personalized vaccines (e.g. as a solution to lawsuits on vaccine injury), you would need an app/passport to screen every in-person human contact. For now, semi-random combinations of vaccines and boosters can achieve a similar effect.

Question:
An interesting blog contemplating why if the situation is so acute the compulsory vaccination in Austria won’t go into effect until February or next year rather than now?

Österreich – über den angeblichen Impfzwang ab 1. Februar 2022

An English translation is below:
I think for many of us it was a shock when the news of compulsory vaccination came out today from our neighbouring country Austria. Of course, it was clear to everyone that this was the perfect blueprint for Germany and, as was to be expected, only a few minutes after the announcement, our beloved Södolf also jumped on this bandwagon and demanded compulsory vaccination in our country as well. However, after the first brief shock, when the brain can think clearly again, one thing struck me….

Why on earth does this compulsory vaccination only start on 1 February 2022???
If they are already planning to implement compulsory vaccination, there is nothing in the world that could stop them from doing so tomorrow. No one could stop them anyway. But why such a long wait?

There is only one logical explanation to this question. The psychological pressure on the population is to be massively intensified during these two and a half months. In other words, the masses of hitherto in-dominatable vaccination refusers are to be forced to run “voluntarily” into the needle. But why is this “voluntary” so important to you?
The answer is extremely simple. As long as a person does something “voluntarily”, he bears the liability and responsibility for it himself. The second it is really done by official state coercion, the one who issued the order bears the legal liability. Legally, this is an unbelievable difference and, in view of the possible threat of Nuremberg Trials 2.0, possibly life-decisive.

So whether this compulsory vaccination will actually come in Austria in February or not, Gods know. The tyrants, however, are only interested in forcing as many people as possible to be injected without liability.

We are in the endgame, it is only a matter of holding out until the whole edifice of lies collapses. Which will undoubtedly happen, because the combination of “vaccine breakthroughs” and vaccine damage can no longer be kept secret, even the lying and corrupt mass media will no longer help. With this knowledge in mind, the criminal elites have no choice but to put the pedal to the metal. Hold on and don’t give in is the motto now! They are running out of time, not us...

Please share this text everywhere, ignorance and panic among the population are the strongest weapons of the elites. Backbone and perseverance are ours. If we stand our ground and don’t give in, this whole criminal system will topple globally. And that is overdue.

A Reply:
Don’t be intimidated by the supposed compulsory vaccination from February 2022, I know from a reliable political source that the whole thing is a huge bluff to drive people into the needle voluntarily! A real compulsory vaccination will never come, if only because of the liability consequences for the government and doctors! In January this lying government will announce that because of the high vaccination rate the pandemic is over and that compulsory vaccination is no longer necessary! Mark these words, this is exactly what will happen, so don’t go to the vaccination voluntarily, because then only you will be liable for your vaccination damage and no one else!

Hi Catherine,

I have heard you say things that suggest to me that of all the tools of mind control that Mr Global and his predecessors have used, including the several millennia of conditioning, programming, poisoning, dumbing down that has prepared the people of Earth for the current blitz for total domination, you see that there is a level of mind control currently at play that defies explanation. I, too, couldn't account for it, so I asked my spiritual guides if I was missing anything. The first reply I received was to be shown a spirit that has been conjured thru malevolent magic and occult techniques. As with the occultists of the 3rd Reich, the modern cabal has a very capable and well-resourced crew of evil magicians. And they have conjured a spirit. This spirit was designed and conjured specifically to get people to take the jab. It's very, very persuasive, very sneaky, and very good at not being seen for what it is. Since I knew what I was looking at, it had no power over me and immediately ran away. But I got a good view of it's abilities and potential.

As we know, this battle is ultimately spiritual. So, as with any thing that can be used as a weapon against us, it follows that any and all aspects of spirituality that can be weaponized, will be weaponized and used against us by the evil ones.

Thanks for getting up every day and doing the right thing. That's what Jesus did.

Question:
Hey Catherine,

On one level I'm a fan of the work that CHD and Robert Kennedy Jr are doing, but on another level I can't understand why they have not addressed the various issues pertaining to virus isolation that folks like Dr. Tom Cowan and Andrew Kaufman have laid out so well (Dr. Sam Bailey has also done great work on this).

You have connections to both parties - have you talked to RFK Jr about the various issues with virology and epidemiology that deconstruct the consensus view in medicine that viruses and germs are the root cause of disease?

The fact that the thought leaders of the opposition groups to COVID policies can't agree on the fundamentals of where exactly the science has gone wrong in terms of diagnosing and treating illness seems like a problem to me. Either germs are the cause of disease or they aren't. We can't leave this issue unsettled.

What are your thoughts on this matter?

Cheers, - Alex

Question:
Catherine,
I need your help. I need to get at the essence of your EMF experience in order to better serve my customers.

Some background:

I work as an EMF Consultant and of course cover the traditional areas of Electric, Magnetic, and Radio-Frequency Fields with my clients.

I also have a passion for the less understood area of Dirty Electricity (DE) which I define as a novel type of EMI (electromagnetic interference) to the body from electric fields, but not related to traditionally expected power line frequency harmonics. In other words the frequencies being broadcast over power lines; those frequencies not a traditional part of our Faustian deal to enjoy electric power in our homes.

In fact, in our little slice of heaven here in North Idaho, one of our public utilities uses DE-based 'smart' meters to devastating effect. These meters are much more difficult to shield than traditional RF 'smart' meters.

As you well know, there is much more to the EMF story. I'd like to know what you've learned about physiological effects of static electric fields for example. I'd like to understand why you feel there's hope in PEMF. I know a great deal about EMF, but honestly I still don't even know what I don't know.

I have a compelling desire to better serve. Can you help me? Would you be open to a brief conversation?

EMF Consultant

P.S. I want to leave you with an observation. In Gen 1:3, in the first recorded "Let there be..", God spoke light into his new creation. Today, at the moment of conception, God speaks light into each new creation. (Northwestern University researchers 2016).

Hello Catherine and apologies for bombarding you with questions. I thought I could add a couple of more things and maybe treat this thread as a big question?

I saw in the Telegram Solari channel a screenshot that indicated fraud in the Swiss referendum, but was later pulled. I am not sure who manages the channel, but was wondering if you knew why that might have happened? Was the information not credible?

Also, I remember in the last report, you were talking about the pandemic losing steam, and it is clear that it does, but at the same time we see vaccine mandates coming out and an intense Omicron campaign (as ludicrous as it might be) being pushed down our throats. So I was wondering, do you think it is losing steam universally, or only for those of us who are actively resisting it? What would be your prognosis on the pandemic's evolution past this Winter? Do you expect that their aggressive pursuit of vaccinating everyone every few months will collapse, or perhaps maintained but in a more loose manner?

Thank you always for giving us your guidance and strength.

Catherine, did you say you stopped and interviewed Wim Hof?

I have to tell you you saved my life yet again. First, about 10 years ago when you introduced me to WAPF and now with the WHM. I have been doing the breathing exercises and cold shower now for 24 days and I love it. My energy level is greatly improved. One day after my shower I went for a walk and everything had an amazing golden glow. I was looking around in amazement. So, I decided I had stimulated my endo-cannabinoid and opiate systems in my brain and I was actually experiencing a real human high. I think that people are always trying to get to that great feeling. But, we as humans have lost the ability to do it naturally because of how we live in such warm environments and our systems are never challenged. I also have a theory this desire and need to feel “high” naturally is why we humans can become addicted to so many minor and major drugs so easily. Coffee, tea, alcohol, sugar, meth, opium, cannabis.... We just want to feel good. When you can turn on your natural endo-cannabinoid system you don’t have the crash one gets from drugs. No ups and downs. Just peace.

Thank you!

Question:

Hello Catherine,

Today I watched a video interview of Michael Tellinger by Jerm Warfare. The video was primarily focused on ‘One Small Town’. The idea is that a town is set up as a sovereign community, as a way of getting out of the currently slavery situation we are in.

I did not go to the website to read all the particulars, but I did have a problem with his proposal of 3 hours per week of donated time by each participant. For a town of 10,000 people, the donated time would amount to 30,000 hours. A 40 hour regular work week in the USA amounts to 2,000 hours per year. So this town of 10,000 gets the free labor equivalent to 15 employees. He then talks of all the free things you get a share of for these 3 hours. It does not appear realistic to me.

If you have heard about his idea. If so, can you please comment?

Question:
Dear Catherine

You and your team are doing a fabulous job and we are blessed with your sharing of this.

My Question is regarding Europe. We, as Canadians, came to Poland to spend 3 months with our family. We got out of the tyrannical 'no jab, no fly' Canada before their mandates came in. We are essentially ‘stuck’ in Europe and will be doing what I call the 'schengen shuffle' the 90/180 day rule, using our European motorhome acquired thanks to help from our European relative.
As you shared before there is no place to escape Mr. Global. We will attempt the travel to Turkey out of the Schengen in January and then try to come back to Europe in April – possibly heading to England for 2-3 months (Canadians can stay for up to 3 months and husband has British passport which allows us further options).

We are at the moment stuck in the perils of Europe’s tyrannical governments. Do you perceive some countries on a scale of 1 to 10 (ten being the worst) that we should consider on our plans for 2022? Your insights on listing at least 4-6 countries both Schengen and outside that may offer better conditions for us pure-bloods please?

NOTE: We will always travel to Poland and UK as our children are there and we left Canada because we wanted to ‘fight this fight’ with them. We have not sold our property/home in Canada which is self-sufficient growing food and having a great source of water and local farmers. BUT Canada is not the place for our Grandchildren with Turdeau’s progressive policy that could jail parents who treat their children’s gender dysphoria (Bill C-4). Poland is still ruled by a union of church and state and our grandchildren at the moment are free to attend preschool mask free and also from gender dysphoria as it is not tolerated in Poland).

Again thank you and Merry Christmas and Happy Holiday wishes to you and your amazing team. I thank you for your insight in offering your suggestion on which countries we should consider a "motor-roam through in 2022". Freedom is Movement and Movement is Freedom for us at the moment (outside Canada).

thank you for the pep talk to artists in your recent video wrap up with Dr. Farrell. We need to step up.

I have been trying to come up with a way to lo-tech monkey wrench the system. I thought, the best way is to appeal to people's greed. I found a "fake money" image on Amazon.com of a one hundred dollar bill ... copied it and put the phrase on the back - "YOU HAVE BEEN FOOLED / IT NEVER WAS ABOUT YOUR HEALTH / IT WAS ALWAYS ABOUT GETTING YOU TO AGREE / TO A SYSTEM OF CONTROL"

I then printed many copies of that out and surreptitiously left them in stores or on the sidewalk, wrapped up like lost money. If you would like, I can provide more info.

Hi Catherine,

I was wondering what you thought of this email below. I'm wondering if it is another step toward tracking and controlling motorists.
Dear EZDriveMA Customer,

We are reaching out to inform you that the 19-state E-ZPass Group has granted approval to

Massachusetts company PayByCar™ to conduct a retail pilot program called Driven by E-ZPass that allows drivers to buy gas using their E-ZPass tag.

This is an “opt-in” program.

E-ZPass tag-holders may voluntarily enroll with PayByCar for non-touch payments at gas stations and other drive-thru services such as fast food and parking lots. Currently there are 27 Alltown gas stations in Massachusetts participating in the program.

How does PayByCar work?

When you drive into a participating gas station, PayByCar recognizes your E-ZPass transponder. You get a welcome text message, you reply with the pump number, PayByCar turns on the pump, you fuel up and drive away with an email receipt. PayByCar does not draw funds from E-ZPass holders' tolling accounts.

Question:
Hi, Catherine,
I have been listening to you about a year and as a result have made many changes in my life! Thank you so much for all you do. I am currently in a position to loan someone mortgage money for a home worth more than twice the loan amount. The mortgagee would be a trustworthy Christian. I am very excited about this possibility and “investing in people”. It just feels good. However, before I pull the trigger I am wondering how you think this could be affected by the Great Reset and the end of the dollar? I am unvaxed and am thinking the Government is not going to allow me to collect the rent in Government digital currency. The mortgagee is on a fixed income from the Government and I expect, will eventually will be paid in CBDCs. I am excited about an income stream, because unfortunately, I am a senior citizen living off my contributions to the Government (social security, retirement) and am afraid that is not going to be there, forever. I hope you can answer this question because although you may consider it giving financial advice, I believe it is a general question about what to expect when the currency changes.
Thanks so much.

Hi, Catherine. Hope you have a great day at work today.

Firstly, I want to say that I am truly appreciate for your hard work. You opened my mind to another level. Thanks God for helping me find you through the planetlockdownfilm.

I am Jesus believer and I know that we are all going to win in the end and those who can withstand this will prosper greatly in many ways. To put this together the exact way, let say I always wish if I knew as a kid that everything like houses and precious metals for example will go up in prices, i would buy everything I could. This is the first time in my life that I know the future even though it is going to be bad badly.

I am from a small town in Vietnam which has about 10k people, now 19k. When I moved to the US, I lived in a small town in TX about 16-18k people and this town gave me the feeling like I was living in my hometown in Vietnam. Everybody knows each other, kids come to neighbor's house and sleep over etc. This town got no big banks and a lot of people do their own gardening barefoot and they are proud of it.

So question is I would like to join the Circle to meet like-minded people and build a community that helps and supports each other. The current situation is that I took on a contract with a company in Georgia and I have to be here at least until the end of 2022. I follow you on Telegram and I can tell this beast system is growing strong in other part of the world and it is just the matter of time before it comes here. I am planning to back to TX but I am not sure because I might be running out of time. I happen to know that Dr. Carrie Madej is also in GA and she is calling for resiliency. I also found the Finca Bayona @ https://www.fincabayano.net/ that talks about building a community to survive the crash.

My family has enough money to build a small chicken farm business so I am considering everything right now. I am just a young 25 year old and I am in need of your expertise and advice.
Thank you, Catherine. May God be with you in the war against the devil.

Dear Catherine,

I have really enjoyed your book reviews and found The Edge of the World by Michael Pye particularly fascinating as it shows how there is nothing new under the sun and history has an uncanny way of repeating, I guess because human nature never changes.

There is a book that I think you might enjoy that had me angry for over eighteen months (Not a very good recommendation, sorry!). It is called "The Secret Life of Real Estate and Banking" by an Australian called Philip Anderson. It is a history of the American land and property cycles over the last two hundred years. The remarkable thing is it appears to repeat roughly every twenty years. I was fascinated by your work on the land grab that was behind the Black Lives Matter protests, it really backs up what Phil has said in his book. Money always flows into the land.

I had to read the first three chapters several times as they physically made my head hurt! However once I got into his style of writing I found it a most interesting and informative work.

Phil's book is based on a book published in 1983 called "The Power in the Land" by Fred Harrison a UK economist. As far as I am aware Fred is the only UK economist to accurately forecast the last two recessions almost to the day.

I am really looking forward to reading all your work.

Watching Catherine’s recent interview with TLAV it was mentioned to throw away our smart phones. While I completely agree with this sentiment I can also say that this company is amazing. I have a phone from them and it is great, they are very helpful and seem to be dedicated to privacy. I also love their tag line: Take Back Our Tech. I personally think this is the way forward because as Buckminster Fuller always said: we must build a new system that makes the old obsolete.
